Union Leaders Ready to Call Halt In Power Strike

WALKOUT HITS THOUSANDS IN STEEL CAPITAL

Pittsburgh Utility Workers to Vote on Issue at Mass Meeting Tonight.

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— A nine-man strike committee announced in court today its recommendation that 3,500 striking utility workers end a two-day-old power walkout which had benumbed industry and business life in the steel capital.

The committee men said through counsel that the union membership would vote tonight on a new company proposal to settle the dispute. Details of the company's offer were unannounced. The committee said it would urge that the members accept the offer.

The unexpected offer came as reverberations of the strike piled up end on end.

CURTAIL STREET CAR OPERATION

Many thousands of workers, unable to get to their jobs because of curtailment of street car transportation, were idle.

A further county court decision was awaited on an anti-strike injunction unique in Pittsburgh labor circles. Unionists claimed there is no law to make men work. The city had obtained the preliminary injunction on its plea the power walkout was a "strike against the people" and endangered public health and safety.

The anti-strike injunction issue tempted CIO and AFL unions to join an unaffiliated union in the case, as the issue has never been decided by the U. S. supreme court.

UNIONS DISCUSS GENERAL STRIKE

A small strike-sympathy wave was growing. Two thousand Pittsburgh employes of the Jones & Laughlin Steel corp. walked out in sympathy. CIO unionists talked of a possible general strike call unless the leader of the striking power union is released from jail.

The strike issues and their far-reaching overtones were discussed in closed-door court chamber sessions for several hours.

At 12:45 p. m. today, the court continued until tomorrow morning contempt proceedings involving the union's nine-member strike committee. . . . The committee meanwhile agreed to place before the union's 3,500 members tonight a new company proposal to settle the contract dispute which prompted the strike.

The court had threatened to hold the nine men in contempt of court unless they called off the strike. The strike continued.

VIEWS DIFFER

Kaiser Says He Lost, Probers Think He Made Money.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The House Merchant Marine committee today resumed its journey through a wilderness of bookkeeping statistics in a search for profits, if any, made by industrialist Henry J. Kaiser in his extensive wartime shipbuilding.

Kaiser figures that he and his family lost or might lose pretty close to $18,000,000—a sum he arrived at by employing a few "buts" and "ifs."

Committee members aren't so sure he lost. They are still trying to get some clarification of the $192,000,000 profits figure for six companies in which Kaiser has or had an interest—a figure worked out by the maritime commission.

Airport Feeder Line OK'd

A report by Civil Aeronautics Board examiners has approved a single feeder line to service Mansfield by air and has disapproved the application of the United Airlines to operate planes through the city.

This was revealed today by Congressman J. Harry McGregor's office which said that the examiner's report is not final. It must be acted upon finally by the Civil Aeronautics board.

Approved to provide Cleveland - to - Columbus feeder line service through Mansfield was the Great Lakes Airlines, Inc.

The Associated Press reported that the Great Lakes Airlines was authorized by the examiner to operate between the two cities by way of Canton-Massillon, Wooster, Ashland-Mansfield, and Mount Vernon.

Fate of the two other major airlines—Trans-World and Eastern—who have applied to service the city is not clear, McGregor's office said. They have not, however, been approved by the examiner.

* * *

ARGUMENTS STILL TO COME

The congressman's office said that next move in the approval procedure will be arguments presented by the applicant airlines directly to the CAB.

Approval of the single feeder line service for the city partially bears out CAB Chairman James M. Landis' prediction made in July that feeder lines would be the first type of organization certified for the city.

He said then that an extensive survey would have to be conducted here and throughout the area before it could be determined how many, if any, major airlines would be certified for service here.

Other observers see the lack of a lighting system at Mansfield's port as a further cause for delay in certifying major lines here. Construction of a $35,000 runway lighting system got underway yesterday.

The AP reported that the CAB examiners board included William F. Cusick and Richard A. Walsh.

Tiny Baby's Big Girl Now And Year Old

Members of the city's health staff are practically bursting with pride today. It's because a Mansfield baby, born three and a half months prematurely, is now a year old and "in perfect physical shape."

At birth, the baby girl was so tiny she had to be fed with a dropper and a constant watch had to be kept of her temperature. She weighed only two pounds, six ounces.

The mother regularly brought the tiny girl to the city's well-baby clinic. Attendants there recalled how the mighty mite once became "lost" in the cotton wrapping in which she had to be kept.

Today, Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, said the baby weights 18 pounds, one ounce. "The girl is mentally alert," he added. "If anything, she's advanced mentally."

LAUDS TALK

Stalin's Comment Will Ease Tension, Says Harriman.

PARIS—(INS)—W. Averell Harriman believes that Premier Joseph Stalin's "no war" statement has exerted a tremendous effect in calming international relations and agrees with the Soviet leader that no war is imminent.

International News Service learned this exclusively today as the retiring ambassador to England and newly appointed secretary of commerce arrived in Paris to confer with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes.

Harriman refused to be quoted but indicated that he thought the recent war scare in the United States was silly.

SCHOOL BUS HIT—At least 30 grade school children escaped serious injury today when a school bus became involved in a three-way collision at 8 a. m. on West Fourth street road, just east of Trimble. Eight of the children and a man driving another automobile sustained some injuries and were taken to General hospital for treatment and observation. Left, Jack Spangler, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spangler, Mansfield R. D. 3, points to the spot where witnesses believed Barbara Ann Sziraki, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sziraki, Mansfield R. D. 3, was injured when she was pinned against the guard rail as she was getting on the bus. Right is the car driven by E. E. Brown, 62, of Crestline, who was seriously injured when the truck, shown in rear, crashed into his automobile.

VOTERS RUSH TO REGISTER

'Really Coming in Stream Now,' Deputy Reports.

Stimulated by the urging of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and political candidates, scores of Mansfield and Madison township residents are registering with the board of elections for the right to vote in the Nov. 5 election. Residents living elsewhere in the county need not register.

"They're really coming in a stream now; maybe we'll have a big vote this fall after all," Deputy Clerk Walter Underwood said today.

He counted 85 registrants yesterday alone. This compared with an average of 17 to 20 a day last week before the Jaycees circulated house-to-house a handbill pointing out the need for registration.

Deadline for registration and transfer of addresses, in cases where citizens have changed their residences, is Oct. 7.

Veterans especially have been warned that they must register with the board if they did not vote during the last two years or even if they voted by absentee war voters ballot and were not otherwise properly registered.

The board, located in the basement of the courthouse, will be open until 9 p. m. on Oct. 7, the last day for registration. Until then its hours are 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. during the week and 8 a. m. to 12 noon on Saturdays.

The registration requirement applies only to residents of Mansfield and Madison township.

COLD COMING

Temperatures in 40s Forecast By Weather Bureau.

It looks as if the picnic weather is about to run out.

The weather bureau today forecast sharp changes in weather conditions with temperatures dropping into the low 40s the next two mornings.

No frost is in sight, but the bureau advised farmers to be on the alert for sudden changes to cold weather.

JERUSALEM — (INS) — Zionist officials in Jerusalem disclosed today that the Inner Zionist council had decided not to attend the London conference on Palestine "under present circumstances." The council resolution was passed 16 to six, with the minority favoring outright refusal to attend.

Army Gives Go-Ahead For Clear Fork Dam

Final go-ahead signals on plans for the construction of the city's Clear Fork dam have been received from the army engineers and the Muskingum conservancy district, Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow said today.

The state health board approved the plans two weeks ago. The letters from the army engineers and conservancy district thus are tantamount to final approval.

Enlow said the engineers gave approval by not filing "objections to the plans."

A letter from Bryce C. Browning, secretary-treasurer, likewise stated that the conservancy board "has no objections to your proposed construction in the event that various recommendations made by its chief engineer and the Huntington office of the army engineers are followed."

Monday the city will receive bids for the dam construction. Work is to start 15 days after a contract is signed and must be completed 270 days later.

Start of construction on the dam will mark the first actual work at the proposed 2,100-acre reservoir site. They city must still purchase some 350 acres of land.

The $800,000 reservoir is designed to increase the city's water suply by some three billion gallons a year.

Asks $1,555 to Fix City Building Roof

The board of control today considered bids submitted for repairing the city building roof and for providing the city with fire alarm boxes and traffic signals.

Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow said R. M. Wingert, of Mansfield, asked $1,555.25 for the roof-repairing job. Bids from the Gamewell company to provide alarm boxes and from the Crouse-Hinds company to supply the traffic signals have not yet been tallied, Enlow said.

HUNT SUSPECT IN SHOOTING

Police Launch Probe After Bullet Hits Mansfielder.

Police today were attempting to locate a North Mulberry street man for questioning in connection with the shooting of Murry D. Campbell, 20, of Mansfield, R.D. 4.

Murray was hit in the left leg below the knee last night at Sixth and Main streets and was admitted to General hospital, officers said.

Harry Peifer, of Marion, also told police that bullet holes had been shot in the windshield and rear window of his car which was parked in the Sixth street area about the time Murray was shot.

He was shot about 9:15 p. m. yesterday, shortly after police received calls that there was a man "firing a gun" and a man "with a gun" in the Sixth street area.

Army Prepares to Release Officers

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The army relaxed discharge requirements for officers today to keep within its curtailed budget by reducing this personnel strength and to speed release of all non-volunteers.

Eighty-five thousand officers out of 170 thousand still on active duty were estimated to be affected by the new discharge criteria which permits officers to shorten their previously scheduled length of service.

GREECE TORN BY CIVIL WAR

Government Rushes Action to Crush Rebellion.

LONDON — (AP) — Greek and British government officials today labelled the mounting violence in northern Greece outright civil war and disclosed that stern measures were under way to crush the rebellion.

A British foreign office spokesman said the Greek government had given British representatives in Athens evidence indicating that leftist forces attacking the gendarmerie in the north were being armed from "Yugoslavia and Albania." He added that British troops in Greece could be called upon to act only "in a last resort" and would not be used unless the Greek government specifically requested such aid.

Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris said in a Salonika speech that the disorders no longer posed a question of order but "a question of war," and declared "the state will emerge victorious by using all the means at its disposal and without any hesitancy in taking any measures."

New outbreaks were reported in dispatches from Macedonia, where, the Greek Press ministry said, a strong band of leftists attacked the village of Pendalophos and were repulsed in a sharp battle in which 23 attackers died.

The ministry said it confirmed a report that the town of Deskate, captured three days ago by 2,000 leftists, was recaptured by government forces in a battle in which the leftists lost 80 killed, 178 captured and many wounded.

CLOSE INQUIRY

Grand Jurors Are Expected to Report Late Today.

The Richland grand jury was expected to complete its investigation and return a report of its findings late today. County Prosecutor Theodore Lutz reported that the jurors conducted investigations into charges of operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent against James R. Travis and a grand larceny case against Ralph Pickens. They also were reported to have investigated one sub-rosa case this morning.

A tour was made of the county jail preceding the noon re-cess. Two first degree murder charges against Howard Nichols, 20, and Lewis Murton, 19, inmates of the OSR, were scheduled as the closing investigation this afternoon.

BULLETIN

Louis Wiparina, central station fireman, was overcome by naphtha fumes around noon today while fighting a paint tank blaze at the Mansfield Metal Vault company, Longview avenue. Wiparina's condition was reported as "good" at General hospital at 2 p. m. today after he had been administered oxygen. Cause of the blaze, which broke out in one of the company's paint tanks at 12:05 p. m. today, was not determined. Wiparina resides at 334 Second avenue.

Eight Children, Crestline Man, Among Injured

Wildly-Careening Semi-Trailer Smashes Vehicle Carrying Youngsters, Then Strikes Hunter's Car; Driver Fined, Suspended

A wildly careening truck smashed into a parked school bus at 8 a. m. today, injuring eight school children and seriously injuring a man driving another automobile. The three-vehicle collision occurred on West Fourth street road, just east of Trimble road. At least 20 other Hedges school children and the drivers of the bus and truck escaped injury.

E. E. Brown, 62, of Crestline, was reported by Dr. T. O. Staker, resident physician at General hospital, to be suffering possible skull fractures and possible internal injuries.

Most seriously injured of the school children was Barbara Ann Sziraki, 10, daughter of E. C. Sziraki, R. D. 3. She was treated for body lacerations and shock. Hospital officials said she was being held for further observation.

Seven other school children were still at General hospital this morning, where they were being x-rayed for possible fractures and treated for shock.

The children are Franklin Frietchen, 8; Sharon Smith, 13; Robert Daniels, 8; Lois Ann Jackson, 10; Delores Ann Danals, 12; Donna Hammond, 9, and Edward Fox, 12, all of R. D. 3.

Kenneth Overton, 25, of Warsaw, Ind., driver of the truck, was fined $25 and costs on a charge of unsafe operation of a vehicle and suspended from driving an automobile in Ohio for 90 days when he was called before Municipal Court Judge H. H. Schettler this afternoon. State Highway Patrolman Albert E. Hartman outlined the case against Overton.

According to Overton the vehicle he was driving failed to respond when he applied his brakes as he bore down on the school bus after climbing a knoll.

"I saw the school bus," Overton said, "and immediately applied the brakes, but they failed to take hold and I lost control. I swerved, but hit the corner of the school bus and struck a car which was stopped at the rear and side of the bus."

Carried 100 Yards.

The car, with Brown still at the wheel, was carried east on Fourth street for more than 100 yards by the truck. The two vehicles came to a stop in the ditch on the opposite side of the road. All three vehicles had been headed east.

Witnesses said they believed the Sziraki child was pinned between the school bus and a guard rail. The bus had been carried three feet off the road by the force of the collision.

Brown and the Sziraki child were both taken to General hospital by ambulance. Eye witnesses estimated that at least 24 children were in the bus at the time of the collision.

K. E. McKown, 200 South Franklin avenue, driver of the bus, said that all children were shaken by the crash.

Fifteen minutes after the crash children still wandered aimlessly about the bus. Some were dazed. Many were crying.

"Daddy, where's Mama," one of the children cried when he saw his father running up the road.

Many of the parents of the children live in the vicinity of the crash. They came running when they heard the squeal of brakes and the crash of broken glass.

"I just knew it was the school bus when I heard the crash," Mrs. Howard Spangler, R. D. 3, said. "I was only a hundred yards or so from the bus when it happened."

Mrs. Spangler's daughter, Judy, 6, was on the bus. Her son, Jack, 11, had remained home because of illness.

"I was so scared I didn't know what to do," Mrs. Spangler said. "But I ran instinctively toward the bus. I found my child safe but many were sobbing and crying."

As soon as school officials learned of the accident, they dispatched another bus to pick up injured children and take them to General hospital for examination.

Children not taken to the hospital were sent home for the day, school officials said.

The school bus, owned by Mrs. Myrtle Houston, normally carries 55 children to Hedges school. All children were of grade school age.

Since the bus had not picked up its full complement of pupils at the time of the crash, some youngsters living nearer the school were taken to Hedges school by parents in private automobiles. Glen L. Robinson, principal, said.

School Bus Accident Second In Two Days

Today's school bus accident, the second in two days, brought an official warning to motorists to be careful.

In contrast to today's near tragic accident involving a bus carrying Hedges school pupils, yesterday's mishap caused only minor property damage. It involved a school bus and three automobiles in a mixup at Beal road and U. S. Route 42.

"The safety of school children should be foremost in motorists' minds at this time of year," Cpl. J. L. Bishop in charge of the Mansfield State Patrol station said.

"The law requires the motorist to stop whenever a school bus is either loading or unloading passengers," he continued "This does not matter from which direction the motorist is traveling. "If motorists will observe this rule, we will avoid possible school-bus tragedies."

Cpl. Bishop said that the collision yesterday morning was caused when the school bus stopped to pick up children at the intersection. Two cars stopped directly in back of the bus, but a third car rammed both of those cars into the rear of the school bus. The driver of the third car told officers he was unable to stop in time.

Chief Issues Warning.

"Children are under the impression, and rightly so, that they can leave school buses safely," said Police Chief Meade K. Bates.

"There's absolutely no excuse for a driver passing a school bus. They are painted an unusual color, they carry large, legible signs marking them as school buses and they have blinker lights on them.

"It's the responsibility of the individual motorist to have his car or truck under control when approaching a bus and to come to a stop if the bus stops—regardless of which direction he is driving.

"School buses are one of the Postoffice Sprouts Wings, Ready to Speed Mail as Rate Drops to Nickel

WASHINGTON — (INS) — More than a ton of mail will be aboard when America's first flying post-office wings to Chicago this afternoon from Washington National airport.

The novel flight, first of its kind in history, commemorates the inauguration of five-cent air mail throughout the United States and its possessions.

The new rate ,a three-cent slash in letters-by-air, takes effect throughout the nation at midnight tonight.

Today's experimental flight will test the soundness of establishing a permanent system of air-borne sorting and working of mail aboard four-engined, especially equipped C-54 Skymasters.

Gael Sullivan, second assistant postmaster general, predicted that as much as 20,000 pounds of mail will be carried aboard flying post-offices in "the very near future."

Clearing Washington early this afternoon the TWA Skymaster will first stop at Dayton where a commemorating five-cent album will be presented to Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane.

The flight continues to Chicago and then to Pittsburgh and New York tomorrow. New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer will meet it upon the airplane's arrival at La-Guardia field.

Ironically enough, today's flight marks the twenty-fifth anniversary of air mail. When first started, letters-by-air cost twenty-five cents for each half ounce, without any promise of delivery. Today's air mail, twenty cents cheaper ,pledges less than two-day coast-to-coast deliveries.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK—The parallel between Henry Wallace's "peace movement" and the activities of the so-called Cliveden set in the anxious days just before Hitler's war has not been clearly developed.

Noting Lady Nancy Astor's denial that an actual "Cliveden set" ever existed, we may consider, nevertheless, the group and the political movement which had for their purpose the prevention of war by appeasement of Hitler. They were sympathetic wth Hitler in all his reasonable aspirations for the German nation and were accused of approving all his other designs and all his methods, including his persecutions of Jews.

The Nazi Bund in the United States, under Fritz Kuhn, inevitably moved in as von Ribbentrop and other Nazis in London likewise exploited the peaceful intentions of those friends of Lady Astor for Hitler's purposes. If the Cliveden set and the America First group ever did have any chance of preserving peace they were frustrated by this intrusion of Nazis, William Allen White and other leaders of America First sorrowfully gave up.

* * *

NOW, IN AN ALMOST identical situation, Wallace would "understand" and justify identical atrocities by Josef Stalin, also in the cause of peace. His impudent assumption of "peace" as his sole political property and the brutal implication that all who are unwilling to appease Stalin want war with Russia seriously impugn his sincerity.

It is further impugned by his selection of a partisan political rally in New York, dominated by forthright and covert Stalinists, as the time and place for the declaration that caused the uproar. On the record thus far developed, he raised this issue, started his own Cliveden movement in the United States and shook the world for the primary purpose of beating Dewey in a state election completely detached from world issues.

It would be a great mistake to believe that Wallace is altruistic and a pure idealist as his press claque of misanthropic interpreters constantly tell us he is. He is ambitious to be president of the United States and hopeful of an obedient congress which would give him the same "aggregate war powers" that Roosevelt wangled for himself.

Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt were elected on promises to keep the country out of war and Wallace is smart enough to understand that if he should go to the people as the only one promising them peace, without ifs or ands, he might sweep the election in 1948.

* * *

WALLACE CLIVEDEN set is infected with advocates of the new Soviet empire, under Stalin, to a much greater extent than Lady Astor's group and America first were corrupted by Nazis. In the "beat Dewey" rally he was surrounded by some American quislings who would repeat here the process of the Polish Lublin committee and the Finnish "government in exile," traitorous groups which sold out their countries to Stalin.

The time is too early now but it is not fantastic to think of a day when some group of American Stalinists in the Wallace adherence shall set up headquarters in Moscow and be recognized by Stalin as the exiled "people's" government of the United States. The propaganda Wallace and his Cliveden set shows that their motive is not to save the world from war, not to preserve the United States but to deter the United States from opposing the extension of the new Russian empire.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— "When a man has stock in a company that holds stock in a company that he has stock in (I am not, either, quoting Alice In Wonderland) the situation does get a little complicated."

Whew. The man involved in this little complication is Henry J. Kaiser, who built 1,000 ships, heads a billion dollar industrial empire, and who tries—but does not always succeed—to keep in mind a million dollars here and a couple of million there.

The man who voiced the dismaying first sentence in this dispatch is Rep. Alvin F. Weichel of Sandusky, O. As a member of the congressional committee investigating ship building profits, he managed to keep the portly Kaiser's bald dome changing color like a chameleon on a scotch plaid blanket.

* * *

The varying shades of the Kaiser noggin provided an excellent barometer of his temper. Pink meant that he was only medium sore; scarlet indicated that he was getting good and mad; purple proved that he had to restrain himself from chopping down the congressman and using him for propellor shaft stuffing in a Liberty ship.

* * *

Weichel said (ignoring the purple) that he couldn't understand how the banks had loaned $5,000,000 to Kaiser's Permanente Metal company, when it only had $460,000 in capital.

"Because the company had integrity," began Kaiser. "The men behind it had integrity*. . . ."

"Yes, but it had not assets, hardy," interrupted Weichel.

"Well," explained Kaiser. "If that's the way you think, I'd like to see you try to borrow $5,000,000 from a bank."

The purple turned to scarlet. Weichel had no reply. Kaiser chuckled. The scarlet receded to pink. And so it went, as the congressmen and their lawyer tried to lead Kaiser through a financial setup more complicated by far than a Joshua Hendy steam engine.

Kaiser used to own a chunk of the Hendy Engine company, too, but let's not go into that. He runs 28 different industries; the government still owes him millions; he owes the government other millions.

Rep. Fred Bradley of Michigan, said he was disturbed by the fact that Kaiser couldn't remember whether he'd made one $11,000,000 loan. He said that wasn't peanuts. Kaiser said he knew it wasn't. Only he deals in coconuts.

"And where do you get the statement that you saved the American taxpayers $250,000,000 in the building of ships?" Bradley demanded.

Kaiser smiled. The pink became pale. He laughed. There used to be a senator from Missouri named Truman, Harry S. He got a better job a while back, but while he still was a senator, he investigated Kaiser's operations.

"Investigated us good," Kaiser said. "And announced in his formal report that we built those ships $250,000,000 cheaper than anybody else could of."

Oops. Bad grammer, but Kaiser's round. I'm beginning to like the guy. Only fellow I ever knew who forgot $11,000,000.

Phalanx Club To Reorganize

Mansfield's YMCA Phalanx club members disclosed plans today to reorganize at its Oct. 8 meeting.

Meeting last night at the YMCA, present Phalanx members decided to organize a new club for themselves and to pass on the Phalanx charter to a younger group.

Originally organized on a national basis as a fraternity for boys who never went to college, or for college boys who had never belonged to a fraternity, the Mansfield branch is now made up almost exclusively of World War II veterans.

WALLACE WILL REMOVE GAG TO AID DEMS

Former Commerce Secretary Prepares For Future With Eye on Presidency.

WASHINGTON— (U.P.) —Henry A. Wallace has decided finally today to campaign for the Democratic party with an eye on the 1948 and 1952 presidential elections.

His associates revealed that Wallace is ready and willing to speak for Democratic congressional candidates in the current campaign despite his discharge from the cabinet.

The United Press was informed Wallace would accept state or national committee invitations to speak, or invitations from other responsible Democratic leaders. It appeared likely he would avoid further discussion of foreign policy until the end of the Paris peace conference.

In accepting speaking engagements, Wallace would have to be convinced in his own mind that the Democratic candidate had what he regards as a sound voting record, although the measure by which this would be determined was not indicated. His associates said there already had been inquiries from Missouri, Pennsylvania, Indiana and the northwest Pacific states for Wallace speeches.

Chairman John J. Sparkman of the Democratic National committee speakers bureau already has backed away from his blacklist of Wallace and Sen. Claude E. Pepper, D., Fla., as official party speakers. Committee Chairman Robert E. Hannegan is anxious for Wallace to take the stump. Neither committee official wants new attacks on administration foreign policy, but they evidently are convinced they need Wallace's help on domestic issues in this campaign.

ROSH HASHANA SERVICES OPEN

Temple to Usher in Jewish New Year at Sundown.

Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashana, will be ushered in at the temple at 50 Sturges avenue at sundown today.

Services will be conducted at 7 p. m. today, 8:30 a. m. and 6:30 p. m. tomorrow and again at 7 p. m. Friday by Rabbi David Rub.

The Jewish New Year will be announced by the blowing of shofar, a ram's horn, in the synagogue. This is characteristic of the holy day of judgment and memorial.

Rosh Hashana is the Jewish holy day which brings a welcome message of eternal value to Jews throughout the world. It has no connection with historic events, Rabbi Rub said.

Rather it urges the individual to live a worthy life and to remember that life is very short in contrast to eternity.

Rosh Hashana ushers in the ten days of Penitence which concludes with Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement.

Greetings exchanged on the New Year are often expressed in the wish, "May you be inscribed in the book of life for a good year."

8TH DIPHTHERIA CASE RECORDED

Parents Sharply Rebuked By Health Commissioner.

Recording of Richland county's eighth diphtheria case this year today brought a sharp rebuke from Dr. W. B. Wild, city-county health commissioner, to parents who fail to have their children immunized.

"Diphtheria cases are entirely unnecessary in modern times with all the preventative methods we have," he said.

He pointed out that in the Mansfield school district where immunization of school children is compulsory only two cases have been recorded this year. In the county district where immunization is not compulsory there have been eight cases.

Children should be given two anti-diphtheria inoculations, Dr. Wild said, one at six months and one at seven months. This should be followed by a single, booster shot at school age, he said.

Inoculations for preventing the disease and for combatting it are available at the city - county health offices. It is provided free to those who cannot afford to pay, Dr. Wild said.

Latest diphtheria case involves a four-year-old boy who lives north of Mansfield on the Bowman street road, Dr. Wild said. He had never been inoculated, the doctor said.

RECEIVES CITATION

The Presidential Citation for meritorious service has been warded to Albert D. Kleinknecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Kleinknecht, of Shiloh, R. D. 1. Kleinknecht, who received his discharge from the navy last March, after three years of service, was honored for his services aboard the U.S.S. Cabot in the South Pacific.

Alander New General Manager Of N-J, Hess In Business Post

The appointment of R. J. Alander as general manager of the Mansfield News-Journal was announced today. He succeeds John W. Graham, who left recently to become general manager of newspaper interests in Morgantown, W. Va.

At the same time, L. W. Hess was named business manager. He will also continue to serve as advertising manager, a position he has held since 1943.

Alander comes to the News-Journal from Columbus, Ga., where for six years he was advertising director of the Ledger-Enquirer Newspapers.

Before going to Columbus, Ga., Alander was associated with the Atlanta Journal and the Birmingham Post. In Columbus, he was a director of Kiwanis club, president of the Georgia Elks association, chairman of the military affairs committee of the Columbus Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the governing board of the Columbus Country Club. He also served a year as president of the Georgia Dailies Advertising Association.

Mrs. Alander plans to follow her husband to Mansfield later. Their daughter, Roberta, enrolled this fall as a freshman in Stephens college. Alander is now living at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Hess, a native of Columbus, O., joined the News-Journal as staff salesman in February 1939. In 1943 he became advertising manager. Before coming to Mansfield he had been affiliated with the Ohio State Journal, the Columbus Dispatch, the Columbus Railway Power and Light, and the Big Bear Stores company. He is a member of the Elks, is married and lives at 62 South Main street.

BOY, 14, SENT TO LANCASTER

Youth Sentenced on Burglary Charge; 2 Win Probation.

Three teen-age boys accused of breaking into the Spitaleri grocery, 238 North Diamond street, Aug. 16, were found guilty in juvenile court yesterday, and one was sentenced to the Boy's Industrial School at Lancaster.

A 14-year-old boy, on parole from BIS, was returned to that institution when he confessed to robbing the grocery and a sporting goods store, court attaches reported.

His 15-year-old companion in the two robberies pleaded guilty to a similar charge but won a suspended sentence to BIS because it was his first appearance in court. He was put on probation to the court for one year and ordered to report weekly and to be in his home early each night unless with adults. His father was ordered to make restitution to the boy's victims.

The third youth, 13 years old, was involved only in the robbery of the Spitaleri store and was put on probation to the court for one year. He was ordered to attend school regularly, report to the court each week, and be in his home early at night. His mother was ordered to pay for the property her son took.

The two older boys recently escaped from the county detention home, fleeing to California where they visited one of the boy's relatives.

WIDOW DIES

Mrs. Elsie Eyerly Succumbs in General Hospital.

Mrs. Elsie A. Eyerly, 65, widow of Howard Eyerly, died today in General hospital following a 12-hour illness. She had been living with Mrs. W. G. Cappeller, 111 Sherman avenue, as a companion.

Born at Myrtle Point, Ore., Sept. 5, 1881, she came to Mansfield in 1915, when her late husband accepted a position in the schools at Ashtabula, O., in 1923, they moved there. When he died in 1941, she returned to Mansfield.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Hattie Hampton of Bothel, Wash.; three nieces, Mrs. Grace Darling of Lucas; and Mrs. Margery Harter and Mrs. Elinor Eckert of Mansfield; three nephews, Harry Eyerly, and Robert and Charles Hancock of Mansfield, and several nieces and nephews in Oregon.

The body was removed to the Wappner funeral home where services will be held Friday at 1:30 p. m. in charge of Rev. O. S. Goerner, pastor of the Lucas Lutheran church. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

MARINES ENLIST 4

Four more Marine enlistments today raised to 23 the total of men reporting Sept. 30 for their final examination in Cleveland, Sgt. R. E. Baumann, of the Mansfield Marine Recruiting office, said. Latest enlistees, all Mansfielders, are Charles Richard Poth, 104 South Glenn avenue; Sheldon Dale Miller, 577 South Main street; James Frederick Burns, 282 Patton street, and Richard Jack Shambra, 87 East Third street.

DIDN'T FORGET—

Mansfielders are remembering the men who fought the war and are still paying for their part in it. The campaign for playing cards for hospitalized veterans, sponsored jointly by the Amvets and YMCA, has already brought 40 decks of cards, Donald Cram, in charge of the YMCA program, reported today. The two organizations hope to get 300 decks in Mansfield in the next two weeks to send to hospitals. Cram said the cards will be accepted at the YMCA or by members of the Amvets.

WIDEN SEARCH FOR ESCAPERS

Reformatory Inmates Flee From Horse Barn.

Mansfield reformatory authorities widened a search today for two inmates who escaped from the institution horse barn yesterday.

Arthur L. Glattke, superintendent, said the fugitives, Wilbur Robinson, 22, and Frank Oiler, 25, made their get-away at 3 p. m.

Robinson was received on June 27, 1944, from Logan county, to serve a sentence of one to seven years for grand larceny. Oiler, received on May 11, 1946, from Athens county, is serving one to 20 years for auto theft.

Ex-Judge's Wife Dies In California

The death of Mrs. Samuel S. Bricker, 75, wife of the former probate judge here, last Friday in San Gabriel, Calif., was learned here today.

Mrs. Bricker was stricken following a heart attack. Surviving are her husband and children, Marguerite, Genevieve, Samuel, jr., and David, all of Los Angeles; six grandchildren, and three great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Bricker left Mansfield in 1913 for California. They have returned for frequent visits to the city.

Fifteen Expected At Scout Course

Fifteen volunteers are expected to take the Girl Scout training course for new leaders to begin Oct. 1 in the Girl Scout office, 13 Park avenue west.

Mrs. Myrtle Ruff, Mansfield Girl Scout executive, who will conduct the training, said volunteers still are needed to complete the roster of leaders for the some 51 Girl Scout troops in Mansfield.

The course, which is for adults, will meet two hours each week for a period of eight weeks.

FOUR ENLIST

Four more enlistments have been announced by the Mansfield U. S. Army recruiting office. Inducted were Joseph T. Dech, 477 Grace street, and Richard B. Kuhn, 710 Highland avenue, both of Mansfield; Edward M. Kinsell, Shiloh, and James F. Neely of Plymouth.

INSTALLATION WILL PERMIT NIGHT FLYING

$35,000 System to Illuminate Runways Is Gift of CAA.

Construction preliminary to installation of a $35,000 lighting system at the Mansfield airport was under way today.

When completed, the lights will permit night flying from and to the big new municipal flying field.

A eight-man crew of the Gustav Hersch company of Columbus started work at the outer end of the northeast runway yesterday.

Flush-type white lights with split filters will be installed each 24 feet along the runways.

Four green range lights also will be placed at the ends of each runway and a 51-foot beacon tower and light will be constructed north of the hangars and inside the series of taxi strips.

Underground electric conduits will be laid alongside the hard-surface runways.

The lighting system is a gift to the city of the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

OSR HAS MEAT FOR ITS TABLE

Enough on Hand Until First of Year, Says Glattke.

Due to the "foresight of the State Department of Welfare," Mansfield reformatory inmates will have meat on the table until the first of the year.

The situation there proved to be an exception to reports issued today from the welfare department which stated it must have 245 head of fat cattle immediately "if the diets of 36,000 inmates are to be maintained at present standards during October."

"Fortunately, the department of welfare had enough foresight not to dip into the public meat pool during the past two years and purchased meat supplies on the hoof," Arthur L. Glattke, reformatory superintendent, said. "We keep the cattle on pasture until they are ready for slaughter.

"We have meat and we're economical with it," he added. "By serving the minimum of meat required in daily diets we'll have enough to last through the first of January."

Welfare Director Frazier Reams said that department agents believe they can obtain the necessary beef in Kansas City. The department was reported to have $35,000 available to purchase the meat.

Reams added that the department had no cattle in sight for the last two months of the year but "is working" at the problem. Some 1,058 head of cattle already have been slaughtered for institution use this year.

Warden Frank D. Henderson of the Ohio penitentiary said the institution's meat supply will last only until the middle of October.

Officials of the Columbus hospitals said their top priorities were doing them little good, because no meat was to be found on the market.

DIES AT 86

Mrs. Hattery Was Mother of Mansfield Doctor.

Mrs. Mary Nichols Hattery, 86, wife of the late Dr. J. E. Hattery, and mother of Dr. John S. Hattery of Mansfield, died late last night at her home in Celina, O.

Born Sept. 2, 1860, in Mercer county, Ohio, Mrs. Hattery is survived by two other sons, Dillon and Russell, of Celina; one daughter, Mrs. Grover Kenney, of Los Angeles, Calif; eight grandchildren, and three great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced.

Shelby Seeks Second Win

SHELBY—The Shelby Whippets, tied with Galion, Upper Sandusky and Bucyrus for the lead in Northern Ohio league football race, will be out for their second conference win when they travel to Galion Friday night.

The Whippets wallopped Willard, 35 to 13, while the Orangemen were nosing out a Crestline eleven, 19 to 0. Biggest upset in the opening league games was the defeat handed Norwalk 12 to 8 by a supposedly weak Bucyrus club. Upper Sandusky, defending champion, had an easy win over Bellevue.

Three other league games are scheduled Friday night with Crestline traveling to Bellevue. Bucyrus to Willard and Norwalk to Upper Sandusky.

Coach Al Fendrick's squad showed more power in the Willard game and was an improved club over the one that took a 21 to 7 defeat from New Philadelphia in the season's non-league opener.

Shelby and Galion played a scoreless tie here in the 1945 season. Galion has won one and lost one this season.

New London Tries For First Victory

NEW LONDON—A luckless New London high school football team will be trying to break into the win column for the first time this season when the Loudonville Red Birds play here Friday night. The Wildcats defeated Loudonville in 1945.

Coach John Swearingen is still switching his lineup constantly trying to find a winning combination. The Wildcats dropped their opener to Mansfield Madison, 31 to 13, and succumbed to Sandusky St. Marys, 12 to 0, last Friday.

The passing combination of Dough Lash to rangy Phil White, is the 'Cats top offensive threat.

Erv Dusak's Home Run Pays Off

By RALPH RODEN

The ability of the St. Louis Cardinals to come from behind in the late innings and then go on to win, is one of the primary reasons the Red Birds lead the Brooklyn Dodgers by a full game today in the torrid National league pennant race.

Several times during the present campaign, the Cards have pulled seeming defeats out of the fire in the waning part of a game. They did it again last night when rookie Outfielder Erv Dusak hammered one of Southpaw Johnny Vander Meer's offerings into the left field bleachers at St. Louis in the tenth inning to enable the Cards to down the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1.

	W.	L.	Pct.	GB.	To P.
St. Louis	95	55	633	0	4
Brooklyn	94	56	627	1	4

Musial set the stage for Dusak's blow last night by singling in a run in the ninth to tie the score. Until then, Vander Meer had blanked the Cards 1-0 on two hits.

The Dodgers' scheduled game with the Philadelphia Phillies was postponed because of rain. The Brooks meet the Phils in a single game today while the Cards tangle with the Reds again under the lights.

Brooklyn will play off yesterday's postponement Thursday, with a doubleheader that day if rain cancels today's tilt.

Elsewhere in the National league, the Chicago Cubs split a doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates, winning the opener, 13-3 and dropping the eight inning nightcap, 13-0.

In the American league, Hank Greenberg smashed three home runs to pace the Detroit Tigers to 4-3 and 10-1 victories over the St. Louis Browns.

The twin wins also stretched a Tiger winning streak to ten games and clinched second place for the Bengals as the pennant winning Boston Red Sox nosed out the third place New York Yankees, 5-1.

A scheduled National league twin bill between the Boston Braves and the Giants was postponed because of rain while the other American league clubs were not scheduled.

Bulldogs Get Jump On Appleseed 11

John Simpson junior high school gets the gridiron jump on Johnny Appleseed this afternoon when the Bulldogs meet Bellville on the Bellville field at 4 p. m.

Appleseed opens tomorrow afternoon against Galion on the Pioneer's field at 3:30. The Simpson-Bellville game had been previously scheduled at Stadium field.

Coach Norm Henline, Appleseed, said his probable line-up for tomorrow's contest would be: Jim Anderson and Dick Alexander, ends, Herman Geottle and Kenny Sauder tackles; Larry Goldsmith and Bob Busch, guards; Ed Schmidt, center, Jack Bargabiser, quarterback, Howard Tipper and Don Pearsino, halfbacks, and Charlie Marchant at fullback.

Zale, Graziano Title Match To Outdraw Louis-Tami Fight

By CASWELL ADAMS

NEW YORK—(INS)—Promoter Mike Jacobs admitted sorrowfully today that Tony Zale's defense of his middleweight purple against Rocky Graziano Friday night in the Yankee stadium will do better at the gate than the Louis-Mauriello bout.

Sorrowfully, because even Michael regards Louis as top-kick and he doesn't like to see Louis gates beaten, even at the expense of a dollar or two. Yet, his bank account likes the moneyed feeling the citizens have for the wallop that Graziano carries.

Before the Louis-Mauriello fight, the New York newspapers resembled empty envelopes, a state brought on by the trucking strike which prevented delivery of newsprint. This lack of white paper forced the sports editors to mislay the reams of copy concerning the sparring activities of the boss and his victim. But for Zale and Graziana, the gates were down and there is knowledge in the town that a fight is on.

Mike predicts that "there'll be more dough in than for the Louis fight. Don't say there'll be $400,000. Just say there'll be more than for the Mauriello fight. I really can't tell anything but that.

"Before the Louis fight my box office men told me $250,000. Then the fight got noised around and there was a good sale the day of the fight and we did $335,000. Say I expect more than the Mauriello fight."

BOOSTER RALLY PLANNED

One of the most interesting Tyger club football rallies is scheduled for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Senior high school auditorium.

Pictures of the Cleveland-East-Mansfield Bengal grid encounter, facts and figures on the Tyger athletic setup by Harold W. Arlin and a scouting report of the Sandusky Blue Streaks by Fred Staub comprise the program. The meeting is open to the public (men and women).

Head Coach Paul Snyder will give a running commentary on the East game movies while Staub will illustrate Sandusky plays and formations on the blackboard. The Tygers meet the Streaks Friday at Stadium field at 8 p. m.

Arlin, president of the school board and athletic association, will discuss the problems and advantages of the new football plant at Trimble road and 30-N which will be ready for use in 1947.

The Mansfield Senior high band is preparing special music and formations for Dad's Night Friday in the Stadium. Fathers of varsity and reserve footballers will wear numbers corresponding to those of their sons and will sit on the sideslines.

The Tyger club will present a red rose to each dad.

The booster organization is making plans to take the band to the Portsmouth-Mansfield game Friday, Oct. 4.

Tyger-Sandusky Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the Mansfield Tyger-Sandusky football game at Stadium field, Friday night are on sale at Tawse Pharmacy, Fox Jewelry store, City News, Yunckers, and Browns' Drug store.

George Sherman, ticket manager, announced that only 1200 seats are available for this game as Sandusky bought 900 tickets in the east stands.

The tickets are for the west track, east track and north bleachers.

JUNIOR HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMP — Johnny Demchuk, (above) ex-Canadian soldier, defends his junior heavyweight crown against Angelo Martinelli in the Armory tomorrow night. Sonny Myers and Wild Bill Zimovich meet in the preliminary.

Indians' Game 'On the House'

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Cleveland's Indians close their home season today with an "on the house" game against the Chicago White Sox.

Only charge to fans, who will get an extra treat in seeing fireballer Bobby Feller in action, will be a 35-cent tax and service charge.

Feller, who lost his 14th game Sunday in a hurling duel with Hal Newhouser of the Detroit Tigers—has 327 strickouts on his record and is out to break Rube Waddell's listed total of 343. Bobby also would like to boost his win mark which now stands at 25 games.

President Bill Veeck of the Indians said the free game was in appreciation to Cleveland fans who boosted home attendance this year to an all-time high of 1,052,289.

America in Olympics

NEW YORK —(CP)— America was guaranteed full representation in the 1948 winter and summer Olympics today following the close of a two-day meeting of the U. S. Olympic Association during which committee members were appointed for 25 games.

OHIO HAS LOTS OF SPIRIT

COLUMBUS—(AP)—New pep and enthusiasm is evident in Ohio State university football practice this week as Saturday's opener with the Missouri Tigers nears.

The first stringers are battling to assure themselves places in the starting line-up which Coach Paul Bixler said he would announce tomorrow; and the substitutes want to leave a good final impression in order to be called in for a part of the action.

Bixler paid special attention in yesterday's workout to Missouri pass plays as the scrubs employed Tiger offensive thrusts scouted by Jack Graf and Ernie Godfrey in Texas last Saturday.

Dick Palmer worked with Tommy James, Bob Brugge and Joe Whisler in the first-string backfield; while Verdova, Billy Doolittle, Jerry Krall and Chuck Gandee were the second-string ballcarriers.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK —(UP)— The Flatbush faithful gathered at Ebbets field again early today to root for their beloved Bums, still tensely hopeful that Lippy Leo Durocher's legerdemain would cause disappearance of the St Louis Cardinals' one-game lead

Long before the players arrived for a game with the Phillies, they gathered in little knots to speak wistfully of the Dodger chances.

And all of them would have felt warm around the heart it, at that moment, they could have seen the cocky Leo in his swanky office.

Durocher is a long way from whipped.

"It's far from over," Leo barked much as if his Dodgers, instead of the Cards, were floating along on top. "They still have a long way to go, even though you can't reckon it in time. I still say we'll win it."

And over in the Phillies' dressing room, where there is nothing to win and nothing to lose, Ben Chapman sided with them

"Sure," Ben said, "the Dodgers will win it."

Then, in loud and raucous tones, he explained alternately that the Bums should triumph because they are the "best" and the "luckiest" ball club in the league.

"They're really lucky Bums," he said. "But they're also the best club in the league. Match them with the Cardinals, man for man, and see if you wouldn't rather take the Dodgers. Only at three positions have the Cardinals got the edge—with Country Slaughter my choice over Dixie Walker in right; Stan Musial at first and Whitey Kurowski at third.

"But for the rest of the positions, I'll take the Dodger players," Ben growled. "And the Dodger pitching is better."

COACHES GET OUT THEIR CRYING TOWELS

CHICAGO —(INS)— A fantastic, "reverse-English" war of nerves today permeated the buildup for what may be the most significant football meeting of the year—that matter between Illinois and Notre Dame next Saturday.

For two fellows who teach their charges to fear nothing whatsoever, Frank Leahy of Notre Dame and Ray Eliot of Illinois are a couple of scared football coaches.

The idea is to expect the worst, so that, no matter what happens, you will be pleasantly surprised

One might suppose, from hearing the coaches speak, that the two teams will take one look at each other, and then, at the sound of the opening whistle, flee wildly in opposite directions and take to the hills.

This is not entirely true. Leahy says:

"If this team reacts the way it has in practice Illinois is going to run us right out of the park.

Eliot says.

"Nothing has hurt our team more than the terrific advance publicity we've received. Nobody could be as good as we've been made out to be."

Madison Reserves Meet Loudonville

Mansfield Madison's reserve football team will be after its first 1945 victory tomorrow afternoon when the Ram juniors play Loudonville on the Madison gridiron at 4 p m Coach Bill Kopcial's charges dropped their opener to the Shelby scrubs, 21 to 0, last week.

The probable starting line-up will be: Howard Sprague and Jack Bosh, ends. Bruce Armstrong and Captain Jim Brightbill, tackles; Norman Hughes and Howard Patterson, guards; Jim Gatton, center; Ray Bader, quarterback, Dick Brooch and Eugene Riblet, halfbacks, and Dwaine Stiemens at fullback

Kopcial has two games scheduled with Mt Vernon, two with Loudonville, one more with Shelby. Games with Willard and Bellville are in the making.

Unbeaten Browns, Yankees Collide

CLEVELAND—The professional football spotlight will be focused on this city next Sunday when the All-America Conference presents its first crucial conflict of the season—a battle involving the undefeated Cleveland Browns and New York Yankees.

Paul Brown's Browns, flashing improvement with every start, have rolled up 92 points while yielding only six in scoring victories over the Miami Seahawks, Chicago Rockets and Buffalo Bisons The New York club, coached by Ray Flaherty, has been cementing its hold on first place in the eastern division. The Yanks have defeated San Francisco and Buffalo and have tied the Rockets.

The advance sale for the game has passed the 30,000 mark. The crowd record is 60,135 set in the Browns' home opener with the Seahawks three weeks ago.

'Sugar Ray' Rained Out

Dodgers Win OS Pennant

SPRINGFIELD O. —(AP)— The second-place Zanesville Dodgers beat the pennant-winning Springfield Giants 10-7 last night to clinch the Class D Ohio State league's playoff four games to two

Last year the Dodgers were play-offwinners after finishing in the runner-up spot to Middletown

A crowd of 1,603 saw the Giants get off to a four-run lead in the first-frame rally sparked by Bill Scalese's triple, but Bill Parton relieved Joe Rodeghiero on the mound for Zanesville and the home club went scoreless until the eighth. In that inning Pitcher Johnny Witherow doubled two more runs in and scored on a fly.

Zanesville tallied three in the fifth when Lou Ott drove in two runs with a double and scored on a single. The Dodgers' big inning was the sixth when they came from behind to score six times against a trio of giant hurlers Vince Balsamello, Zanesville catcher, brought in the final three runs of the rally with a homer over the centerfield wall.

The Springfield club announced last night that its share of the league's player pool for the season now ended was $1,935.

Hemminger Wins Decision

NEW YORK—(AP)—Jerry Hemminger, 163, of Tiffin, O., outpointed Garles Perkins, 156, of Corona, N. Y., in a six-round preliminary bout at Park Arena last night.

Test Dynafuel on the road ... see if it doesn't give Smoother high-test action than premium-priced gasolines ... and you save up to 2¢ a gallon

SUNOCO DYNAFUEL

... high knockless power
... swift acceleration
... unexcelled long mileage

We believe no gasoline, even premium-priced, can equal the incomparable smoothness of Dynafuel

HERE'S WHY: ALL gasolines (including Sunoco Dynafuel) are composed of "light" and "heavy" molecules. As the gasoline goes into the cylinders from the carburetor, some of the "heavy" molecules separate from the rest of the gasoline and go to certain cylinders which get most of the "heavy" molecules, while other cylinders get mostly "light" molecules.

OTHER GASOLINES

IN MOST OTHER GASOLINES the "heavy" molecules are low in octane quality . . . but the "light" molecules are high octane The cylinders receiving the low grade "heavy" molecules do not receive the same high knockless quality as other cylinders.

SUNOCO DYNAFUEL

IN SUNOCO DYNAFUEL, all molecules, both "heavy" and "light," deliver equally high octane power. No matter whether a cylinder receives "light" or "heavy" molecules, that cylinder and all cylinders receive uniformly high knockless quality.

28-Piece Band Ready for Big Season at Appleseed School

There's activity in the music hall as well as on the athletic field at Johnny Appleseed junior high school where the band is getting in shape to support the team.

Almost daily, some 28 musicians and 10 drum majorettes march up and down for about an hour, preparing the intricate formations that give the fans their half-time thrills In addition the band spends three periods each week practicing the new library of music it has this year.

Also in training is the band's new mascot "Nappy," a huge St. Bernard dog. If all goes according to plan, "Nappy" will be in there high-stepping with the majorettes and sporting the maroon and gold colors of Johnny Appleseed.

Baton twirling Diane French will lead nine other drum majorettes as the band goes onto the field. Following close behind Diane will be Diana Hoffman, Arlene Locke, Beverly Mertler, Sue Ann Schwab, Marilyn Brown, Mary Dean Benson, Shirley Tucker, La Wanda Holzworth, and Jackie Fisher.

Miss Jeanne Worley, music instructor at Johnny Appleseed, said the band has planned a series of concerts later in the year. Plans also are under way to organize an orchestra.

"Right now, however," she said, "we are concentrating on preparations for the Johnny Appleseed-Simpson game."

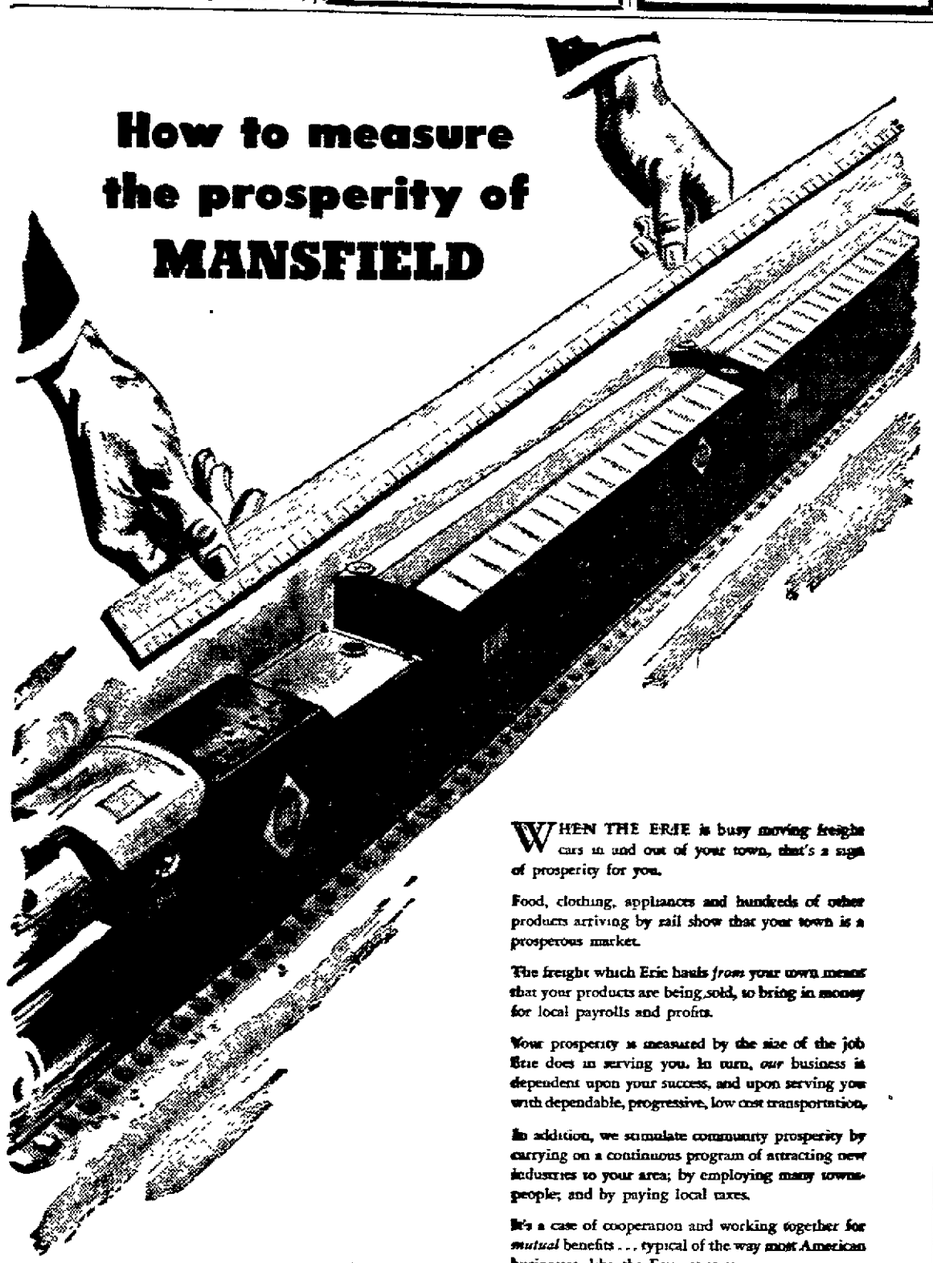
How to measure the prosperity of MANSFIELD



WHEN THE ERIE is busy moving freight cars in and out of your town, that's a sign of prosperity for you.

Food, clothing, appliances and hundreds of other products arriving by rail show that your town is a prosperous market.

The freight which Erie hauls from your town means that your products are being sold, so bring in money for local payrolls and profits.

Your prosperity is measured by the size of the job Erie does in serving you. In turn, our business is dependent upon your success, and upon serving you with dependable, progressive, low cost transportation.

In addition, we stimulate community prosperity by carrying on a continuous program of attracting new industries to your area; by employing many townspeople; and by paying local taxes.

It's a case of cooperation and working together for mutual benefits . . . typical of the way most American businesses, like the Erie, operate.

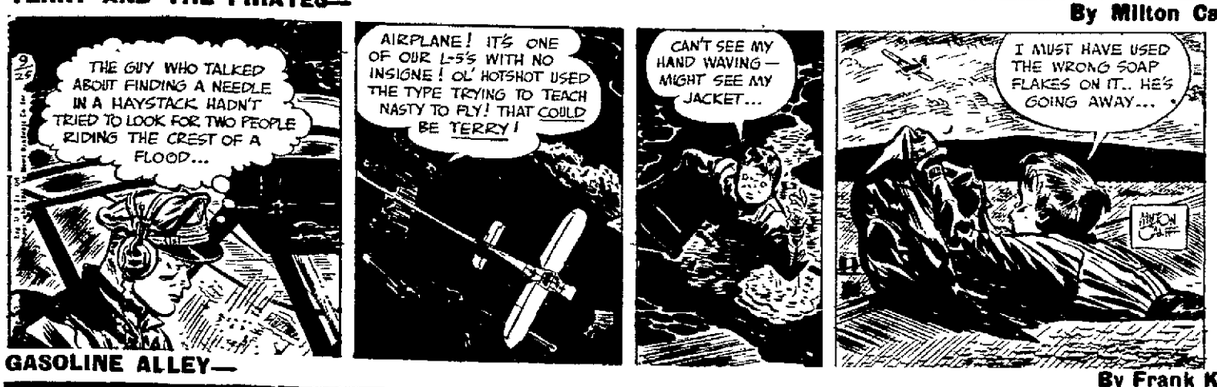
TERRY AND THE PIRATES—

By Milton Caniff



THE GUY WHO TALKED ABOUT FINDING A NEEDLE IN A HAYSTACK HADN'T TRIED TO LOOK FOR TWO PEOPLE RIDING THE CREST OF A FLOOD...
AIRPLANE! IT'S ONE OF OUR L-5'S WITH NO INSIGNE! OL' HOTSHOT USED THE TYPE TRYING TO TEACH NASTY TO FLY! THAT COULD BE TERRY!
CAN'T SEE MY HAND WAVING— MIGHT SEE MY JACKET...
I MUST HAVE USED THE WRONG SOAP FLAKES ON IT.. HE'S GOING AWAY...

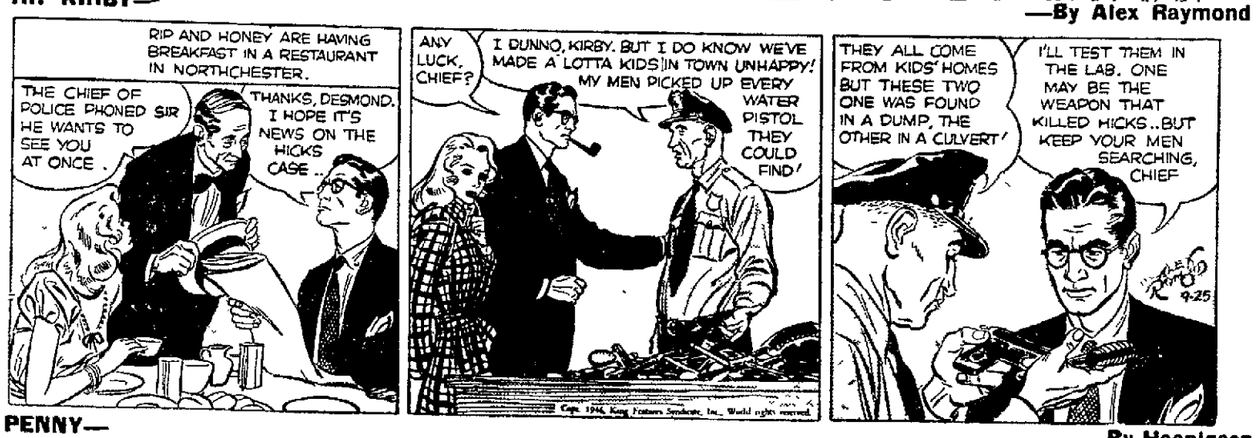
GASOLINE ALLEY—

By Frank King

YES, SKEEZIX, I'M IN FAVOR OF YOU AND NINA HAVING YOUR OWN HOME
I THINK WE OWE IT TO CHIPPER AS WELL AS TO OURSELVES — AND TO YOU, UNCLE WALT.
YOU CAN'T RENT— YOU'LL HAVE TO BUY BUILDING IS STILL A PRECARIOUS UNDERTAKING
IF WE CAN FIND WHAT WE WANT AND I'M A GOOD RISK, I CAN GET A GI LOAN
YOU'RE IN AN ACTIVE BUSINESS AND YOUR PROSPECTS ARE GOOD YOU WON'T HAVE ANY DIFFICULTY
IT'S BEEN SWELL LIVING WITH YOU AND THE FAMILY BUT TIMES DO CHANGE!

RIP KIRBY—

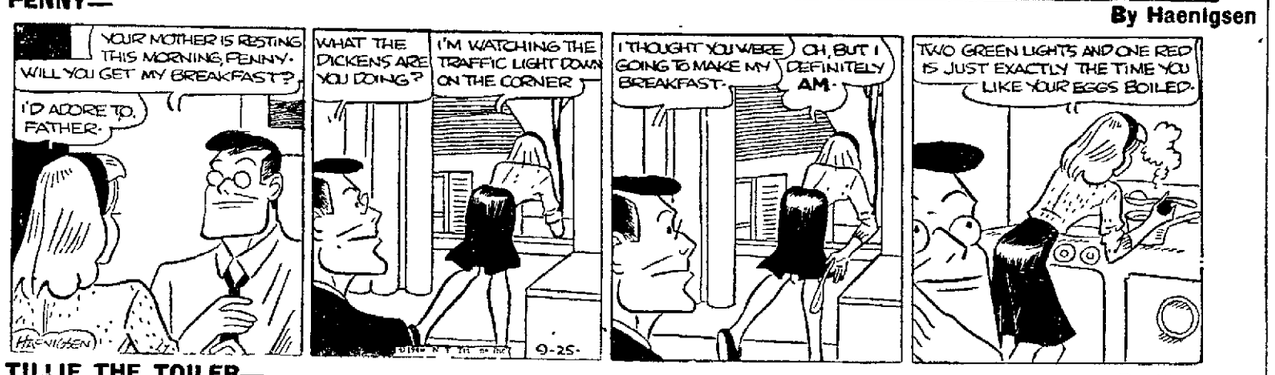
—By Alex Raymond



RIP AND HONEY ARE HAVING BREAKFAST IN A RESTAURANT IN NORTHCHESTER.
THE CHIEF OF POLICE PHONED SIR HE WANTS TO SEE YOU AT ONCE.
THANKS, DESMOND. I HOPE IT'S NEWS ON THE HICKS CASE..
ANY LUCK, CHIEF?
I DUNNO, KIRBY. BUT I DO KNOW WE'VE MADE A LOTTA KIDS IN TOWN UNHAPPY! MY MEN PICKED UP EVERY WATER PISTOL THEY COULD FIND!
THEY ALL COME FROM KIDS' HOMES BUT THESE TWO ONE WAS FOUND IN A DUMP, THE OTHER IN A CULVERT!
I'LL TEST THEM IN THE LAB. ONE MAY BE THE WEAPON THAT KILLED HICKS..BUT KEEP YOUR MEN SEARCHING, CHIEF

PENNY—

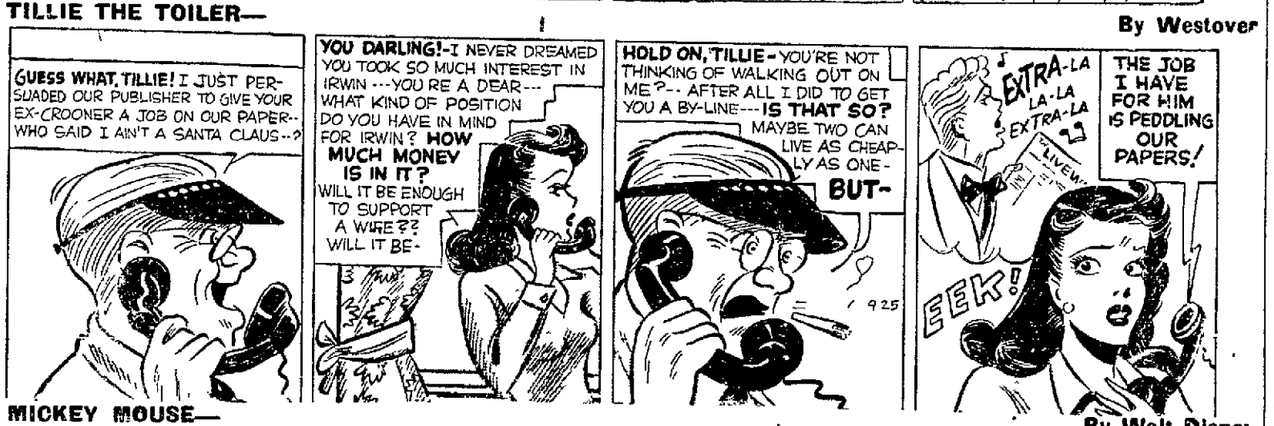
By Haenigsen



YOUR MOTHER IS RESTING THIS MORNING, PENNY. WILL YOU GET MY BREAKFAST?
I'D ADORE TO, FATHER.
WHAT THE DICKENS ARE YOU DOING?
I'M WATCHING THE TRAFFIC LIGHT DOWN ON THE CORNER
I THOUGHT YOU WERE GOING TO MAKE MY BREAKFAST.
OH, BUT I DEFINITELY AM.
TWO GREEN LIGHTS AND ONE RED IS JUST EXACTLY THE TIME YOU LIKE YOUR EGGS BOILED.

TILLIE THE TOILER—

By Westover



GUESS WHAT, TILLIE! I JUST PERSUADED OUR PUBLISHER TO GIVE YOUR EX-CROONER A JOB ON OUR PAPER-- WHO SAID I AIN'T A SANTA CLAUS--?
YOU DARLING!-I NEVER DREAMED YOU TOOK SO MUCH INTEREST IN IRWIN --YOU RE A DEAR-- WHAT KIND OF POSITION DO YOU HAVE IN MIND FOR IRWIN? HOW MUCH MONEY IS IN IT? WILL IT BE ENOUGH TO SUPPORT A WIFE?? WILL IT BE-
HOLD ON, TILLIE - YOU'RE NOT THINKING OF WALKING OUT ON ME?-- AFTER ALL I DID TO GET YOU A BY-LINE--- IS THAT SO? MAYBE TWO CAN LIVE AS CHEAPLY AS ONE- BUT-EEK!
EXTRA-LA LA-LA EXTRA-LA
THE JOB I HAVE FOR HIM IS PEDDLING OUR PAPERS!

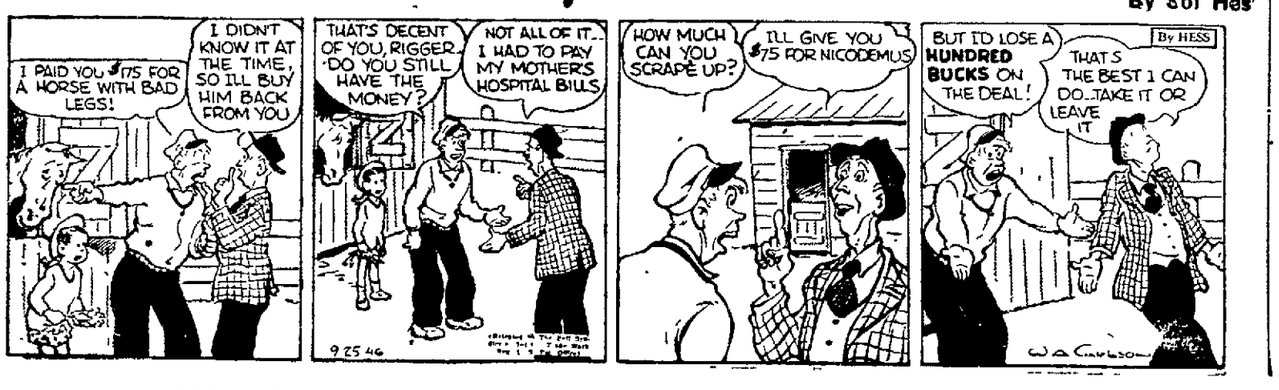
AH, HA! SO THAT'S IT?! WELL, MINERVA, MY JEALOUS ONE, FOR YOUR INFO, SHES THE QUEEN OF SHEBA - TRYING TO LURE ME INTO A TRYST ON THE MOON!
GUS EDSON
HM- THAT'S ODD- MY WALLET— HAD IT A WHILE AGO--
HERE IT IS - I MUST BE GROWING CARELESS - OH, WELL NO HARM DONE — THE DOUGH'S ALL HERE--

THE NEBBS—

By Sol Hess



I PAID YOU $175 FOR A HORSE WITH BAD LEGS!
I DIDN'T KNOW IT AT THE TIME, SO I'LL BUY HIM BACK FROM YOU
THAT'S DECENT OF YOU, RIGGER. DO YOU STILL HAVE THE MONEY?
NOT ALL OF IT.. I HAD TO PAY MY MOTHERS HOSPITAL BILLS
HOW MUCH CAN YOU SCRAPE UP?
I'LL GIVE YOU $75 FOR NICODEMUS
BUT I'D LOSE A HUNDRED BUCKS ON THE DEAL!
THAT'S THE BEST I CAN DO..TAKE IT OR LEAVE IT

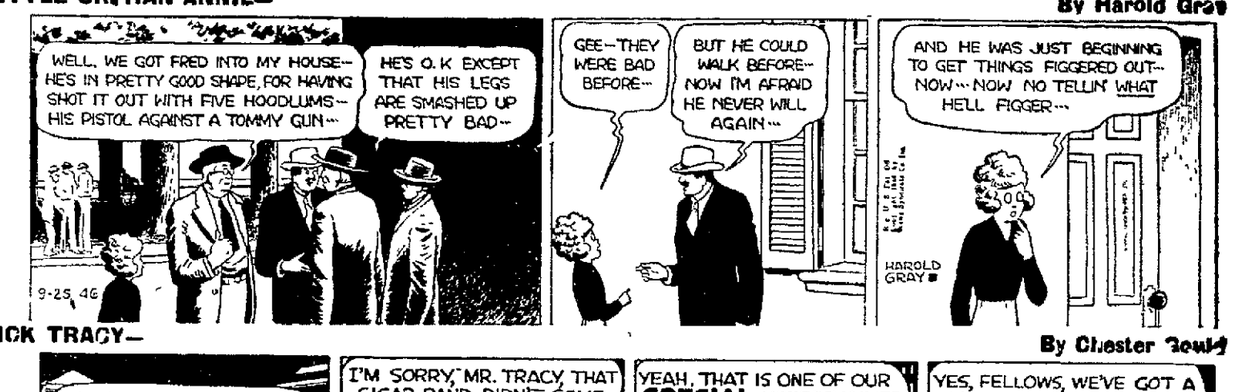
A GLASS OF MILK WOULD BE VERY NICE WITH THIS JELLY BREAD
IT SURE WOULD!
POP! WE PUT OUR JELLY BREAD ON THAT CHAIR WHEN WE WENT OUT TO GET OUR MILK
COME ON, I CAN'T STAND TO SEE A GROWN-UP MAN CRY

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—

By Harold Gray



WELL, WE GOT FRED INTO MY HOUSE— HE'S IN PRETTY GOOD SHAPE, FOR HAVING SHOT IT OUT WITH FIVE HOODLUMS— HIS PISTOL AGAINST A TOMMY GUN—
HE'S O.K EXCEPT THAT HIS LEGS ARE SMASHED UP PRETTY BAD—
GEE—THEY WERE BAD BEFORE—
BUT HE COULD WALK BEFORE— NOW I'M AFRAID HE NEVER WILL AGAIN—
AND HE WAS JUST BEGINNING TO GET THINGS FIGGERED OUT— NOW—NOW NO TELLIN' WHAT HELL FIGGER—

PICK SECRETARY OF PHOTO GROUP

Picture of 'Steel Mill' Wins Society Contest.

Miss Bertha Witschi was appointed secretary of the Mansfield Photographic society last night to fill the unexpired term of Don Burger, who is leaving the city.

Giles Hamilton, vice president of the society, announced the appointment at the regular meeting of the group in the Farmers' Bank building. Two salon contests were judged. Winning photographs were "Steel Mill," by Joe Donahue, first place; "Child Portrait," by Al Gerberich, second place; "Architecture," by John Smucker, third place.

Photographs and winners of the second contest were: "Portrait," by Victor Day, first place; "Sicilian Sanctuary," by Giles Hamilton, second place, and "Wheels," by Joe Donahue, third place.

The next meeting of the society, scheduled for Oct. 15, will be "Swap night," at which time the public may trade photographic equipment, Hamilton said. John Smucker will also give a report on his attendance at the Winona School of Photography this summer.

Reserves Now May Join Guard

Members of Co. M, Ohio State Guard, will journey to the Beagle club near Lucas for a drill session and turkey dinner Tuesday evening. The Company M boys will welcome any of the Enlisted Army Reserve Corps members in this vicinity who are interested in joining the State Guard.

A recent War department ruling now permits enlisted reserves to join State Guard organizations and to receive credit for training with them.

Shelby's 8th Annual Fair Opens Tonight

4-DAY EVENT TO OFFICIALLY OPEN AT 7 P. M.

Free Acts, Band Concerts and Plane Display to Highlight Affair.

SHELBY—Primed by free acts, band concerts, a parade on Friday at 3 p. m., exhibits from four granges, and a display of family-sized planes, the eighth annual Shelby street fair will officially open tonight at 7 p. m.

Discontinued during the war years, the four-day event, for the first time, is being sponsored by the Shelby Junior Chamber of Commerce. It formerly had been held under the auspices of the Better Business club.

More than 1,500 entries are expected with over $300 in premiums set aside for winners, Carl Wentz, who is again fair secretary, said late yesterday.

"Kid's Day" will be observed Friday afternoon when both public and St. Mary's parochial schools will be dismissed at noon to give the students an opportunity to participate.

The high school band will lead the parade scheduled for 3 p. m., Superintendent Byron Carmena said. Buses will leave the buildings at 11:45 a. m. and the school cafeteria will be closed.

The following classifications were listed for awards: pet parade—largest and smallest dogs, one with the longest tail, largest and smallest cats and best decorated pets. A doll parade, bicycle parade, and bubble-gum contest.

The American Legion band will give a concert tomorrow night, and another of the free acts will be the presentation of the "Versatile Marvels," consisting of five acts. Included will be the swinging ladder, single trapeze, and triple ladder along with a comedy routine and acrobatic performance.

At least four family-sized planes will be displayed. Howard Guthrie, Junior Chamber of Commerce aviation committee chairman, disclosed yesterday that a Piper Cub from the Willard airport, an Aeronca Chief from Ashland and an Ercoupe from Mansfield will be included in the exhibit.

The planes will be flown to the Harry Ackley farm and will be towed to the city, with State Route 39 being blocked off. All will be parked on Main street, east of the Ellis and Shelby hardware stores.

Several area businesses organizations, including the Hodges Coal and Supply company, the Firestone store, the C. A. Black Farm Machinery company, the Clarence Bly Farm Machinery store of Ganges, the E. J. Quiggle company and the Shelby Milk Products company will have exhibits.

An amphibious "Duck" will be displayed by the Army's substation recruiting station.

Special entertainment will include the well known Myers family of glass blowers. They will demonstrate the manufacture of glass ships, birds and other artistic articles.

Officers for the fair include John Russell, general chairman; Clark Beal, fair superintendent; Pete Erchenbrecher, Louis Wright, Kenneth Swank, Howard Guthrie, Fred McKinney, Dick Cook, Carl Laughbaum, Mrs. Ernest Stevens, and Ed Lubbe.

Plead Innocent In $26 Robbery

Abe Smith and Hillary Harris of Cincinnati both pleaded innocent today to charges of unarmed robbery and were bound over to the grand jury under $3,000 bond each.

Affidavits against the pair were filed by George D. Kistler, Shelby, who accused them of pulling him into an alley and robbing him of $26.

Mildred Davis, 716 Highland avenue, was found guilty of failure to stop following an accident and was fined $25 and costs. The court suspended her driver's license for 90 days.

Ervin Rainey, 415 North Main street, pleaded guilty of operating a motor vehicle with a license issued to the former owner and was fined $10 and costs.

Louis Hine Dies; Ex-Mansfield Man

Louis Hine, former employe of the Charles Ritter company of Mansfield, died yesterday in New Rochelle, N. Y., it was learned here today.

He leaves a sister, Mrs. Ella Ackerman of Mansfield; three brothers, Fred W. Hine of Mansfield and Edward Hine and Peter V. Hine, of Toledo, two sons and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday in Lakewood.

TRIO ACQUITTED

JACKSON —(INS)— Three state liquor store employes were acquitted today of charges that they violated a 58-year-old law banning the sale of liquor within two miles of a county agricultural fair. The trio was arrested last week during the Jackson apple festival.

$25,000 Sought For Alienation Of Affections

BUCYRUS — Charging alienation of affections, Addie Edie has filed action in Common Pleas court for Jean Flannery, minor, against Maud T. Flannery, Galion, seeking $25,000 damages. The plaintiff charges that the actions of the defendant have resulted in a break in marriage relations between the plaintiff and the defendant's son.

* * *

In another action in Common Pleas court yesterday, an accounting and termination of partnership was asked by George B. Stinehilber against W. Edward Rogers.

The petition sets forth that the plaintiff and defendant entered into a sawmill and lumber business in 1943. The plaintiff contends that Rogers has been managing a farm purchased by the parnership and from which lumber has been removed without giving an accounting, also that Rogers from the profits has purchased other property about which Steinhilber has no knowledge.

* * *

One couple secured a license and another couple made application in probate court yesterday.

A license was issued to Kenneth Roy Almanson, 29, Crestline, and Grace Lillian Knox, 16, Crestline. Application was filed by Ralph Clinton McFarland, jr., 21, R. D. 3, Galion, and Mary Patricia Harley, 22, Crestline.

Youth Voting Debate Topic

Eagles lodge members tonight will hear a debate on the question of whether 18 year olds should be given the right to vote. C. J. Kalbfleisch and George W. Biddle, Mansfield attorneys, will debate the question.

Plans for a series of "teen-age" dances, to be held at the lodge after the football season, will also be discussed.

QUAKES CONTINUE

WESTON, Mass. —(AP)— A "quite strong" earthquake—the latest in a series of approximately 300 quakes recorded in the West Indies area in the vicinity of Puerto Rico since last August 8—was registered at the Weston college seismograph station this morning.

Salvaged Film Tells Story of Pre-War Italy

Mansfielder Harvey C. Tucker is solving the mystery of what's on the films he brought back from Italy when the war was over.

Tucker, who was with the 540th Engineers, likes photography, so when he saw the chance he salvaged a quantity of exposed film from the debris of a bombed home at Piombino, Italy, opposite Elba island.

When he got back to his own darkroom and found some time he started developing the 35 mm film, mite reminder of the days when fascism flourished in Italy and Mussolini was holding millions spellbound with his booming voice and arrogance.

Tucker's developing brought out photos of Italian weddings and many others of the country's youth when it was training for the war that ended in disaster for Mussolini and his followers. Some show fascist parades in the days before the war.

The films are like a history of Italy during the early 1940's, and Tucker is finding in them a lot of things to remind him of the weary months when he built bridges and dug ditches on the way to Rome.

Although he was wounded in Sicily, Tucker managed to hold onto his colored film camera. He took pictures wherever he went.

"We had a lot of chances for sightseeing, so I took plenty of pictures and brought home some others I found," he said.

Among the relics which Tucker cherishes is a book found in the debris of a German city, containing pictures and blueprints of the cities the Germans expected to build when they conquered the world.

One of the pictures Tucker took while in Europe was that of Bergtesgarten, Hitler's hideaway in the mountains. Unfortunately, it was a rainy day and the picture failed to turn out as well as he wished.

Tucker continued his sightseeing and picture taking, on the way home. Because he had piled up 117 discharge points, he was privileged to return to the United States on a C-54 Transport plane by way of Dakar and Brazil.

Since his return home last August he has spent much of his spare time in the well-equipped darkroom of his home. He is employed at the U. S. Employment offices, on North Diamond street.

Galion Vet Cubs Play Columbus Ren Champs

GALION—Having won the first game of the season, last Sunday against the Marion Safety Cabs, 16-0, before 2,000 fans, the Galion Vet Cubs, semi-pro football team, is practicing this week for their second game. They will play the Columbus Ren Champs at Heise park field, here, Sunday afternoon.

FALL SOWING OF '47 WHEAT CROP STARTS

AAA Chairman Says Summer Drought Sharply Cut Yield of Corn.

Undaunted by the prospect of harvesting only a 50 per cent corn crop this fall, the majority of Mansfield area farmers are expected to jump off at the "crack" of dawn tomorrow on sowing operations for next summer's wheat crop.

Although tomorrow is the official fly-free date announced by extension entomologists at Ohio State university, a number of farmers already have jumped the gun and others, prompted by Monday's rain, probably will give way to the urge to start sowing today.

The ground was a little "heavy" today but should be in good shape tomorrow except on low ground or "wet spots," Guy L. Taylor, chairman of the county Triple-A committee, reported.

Wet or "heavy" ground clogs the drills and necessitates frequent stopping to clean the sticky mass from the clogged hose, shoe and disk.

Wheat seeded after Sept. 26 in the Mansfield area will be free from Hessian fly infestation, Taylor said.

Taylor, who operates his own farm and whose position as chairman of the county Triple-A committee takes him around county occasionally, talked discouragingly of the county's corn harvest prospects this fall.

"The drought has hit our corn crop hard, worse than many people realize," Taylor observed after a recent trip around the county.

"I don't believe we'll get more than a 50 per cent average yield.

"There are some good fields in low ground but on the whole the yield will be only fair or poor. There won't be much but 'nubbins' on the high ground."

Many farmers came to a full realization of just what they can expect while filling silos. Others felt it when "cutting out" lands or field borders as preparations for using mechanical binders or pickers and a few also when they began the old method of cutting and shocking by hand, Taylor said.

CALLS DEATH ACCIDENTAL

HAMILTON—(AP)—A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday by Dr. Edward Cook, Butler county coroner, in the death of William Moore, 50, who died Sept. 18 after being found unconscious on a downtown street. He had suffered head injuries.

Bedtime Stories

—By Thornton W. Burgess

AT LONG LAST

Always listen, but with doubt,
When a rumor spreads about.
—Grandfather Frog.

He looked to be the same size as Longlegs.

It is not for nothing that Grandfather Frog has lived to be old and by his neighbors considered wise. Age is often considered a measure of wisdom. It should be. Alas, too often it isn't. Even so it should be listened to with respect. Grandfather Frog is listened to with respect by his neighbors of the Smiling Pool if for no other reason than that he has been smart enough to live so long. In the Smiling Pool, as in the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows, only the smart live to grow old.

Grandfather Frog hears many rumors and listens with doubt. Long ago he learned how little of truth is to be found in most rumors. He had heard the rumor that an all white Heron had appeared along the Big River and it was supposed that it was either Longlegs the Great Blue Heron or his smaller cousin, Quawk the Night Heron, who over night had changed his suit. It made that wide mouth of his become wider still in a grin, did that rumor. No one knows those two Herons better than does Grandfather Frog. How many times they have tried to catch him not even he can remember.

"Chuga-rum! When one of those hunters of honest Frogs changes his coat for one wholly white I'll do the same thing. Yes, sir, I'll do the same thing," said he to Peter Rabbit. "Never believe all you hear, my long-eared friend. The time to believe in white Heron will be when you see one. There has been no white Heron at the Smiling Pool and I never expect to see one here."

Peter went home disappointed. He tried to forget the matter, every now and then he would hear that rumor again and it would stir up his curiosity. So he visited the Big River and the Smiling Pool whenever he got a chance. Sometimes he saw Longlegs and sometimes he saw Quawk. Each time it was with a feeling of disappointment. They looked just the same, just as he always had seen them.

Then it happened. Very early one morning he poked his head out of the bushes on the bank of the Big River. First he looekd down the Big River. As usual he saw no one. Right out in front of him in the wild rice Mrs. Black Duck and her flock were feeding. He watched them stand on their heads in thes hallow water and was glad he didn't have to get his food that way. Watching them was such fun that he forgot to look up the Big River until the sharp noisy cry of Rattles the Kingfisher caused him to look that way.

What he saw caused him to sit up so suddenly, the better to see, that it was a wonder he didn't lose his balance and tumble down the bank into the water. He stared until it seemed as if his eyes must pop right out of his head. Standing on a big limb of a dead tree that leaned out just above the water was a big Heron and his coat was all white. He looked to be the same size as Longlegs. He looked exactly as Peter had expected Longlegs to look in a white coat, so he must be Longlegs.

"He does change his coat. I wonder how he does it," thought Peter. That was rather silly, wasn't it?

Peter drew a long breath. At long last he had seen for himself that the seeming impossible was possible. He started forward for a closer view. Just then the big bird spread his great white wings and with his long legs straight out behind him and his long white neck drawn back on his shoulders he flew across to the other shore. Peter watched him until he lighted over there. Peter could still see him, spot of shining white.

Then Peter turned to hurry home to tell Mrs. Peter all about it. Instead of hurrying he stopped and stood blinking his eyes in the most foolish manner. He blinked and blinked, for he was sure that something was the matter with them. Yes, sir, he was sure of it. Can you guess why? Well, standing on one foot with the other drawn up, and only a little way from him at the endge of the water, was Longlegs the Great Blue Heron and Longlegs was dressed exactly as Peter always had seen him. He looked across to the other shore. The white spot was still there. Do you wonder that Peter blinked?

"It isn't so," said Peter, which of course was a foolish thing to say for it was so. He shut his eyes tight, then slowly opened them. Longlegs was still there.

STOCKS HOLD POSITION IN RECOVERY BID

Improving Foreign Outlook Gives Encouragement to Buyers.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks generally continued to operate in recovery territory in today's market.

Buying again was attributed by the commission men partly to the idea of some customers that the list was oversold and due for much more of a technical comeback. The slightly improved foreign picture, it was said, also aided sentiment.

Norfolk & Western was up about 6 points on a few sales. American Ice was given a lift on the first dividend since 1932. McCall Corp. jumped in the wake of a raised disbursement. Air reduction dipped when the usual extra payment was omitted.

Favored were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Caterpillar Tractor, North American, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, U. S. Gypsum, Texas Co., Standard Oil (NJ), Southern Pacific and Southern Railway.

Bus Mishaps Bring Warning

most important vehicles motorists should watch for, now that school is in session. In Mansfield they're on the road anytime between 7:30 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. each day," the chief concluded.

Sheriff Concerned.

Sheriff Frank E. Robinson expressed concern at failure of motorists to heed repeated warnings.

"Thousands of dollars are spent in publicity campaigns every year, at no cost to the motorist, to urge him to drive more carefully," he commented.

"Other campaigns are conducted to urge drivers to make frequent checks for mechanical defects, but it's the human element that we must concentrate on.

"Somehow we've got to find a way thoroughly to impress upon all motorists that they must heed danger signs relative to their capacity to drive safely."

BUY LAND

The Mansfield Journal publishing company today had completed the purchase of approximately 19 acres of land in Springfield township. One tract of nine acres was purchased from G. W. Bahl and Olive B. Henkel. The remaining 10 acres were purchased from Estella D. Rowlands.

Need for Truth In Government Urged by Pastor

Democracy will never mean anything until truth becomes the basis of our government, Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell asserted last night in addressing members and guests of the Co-operative club, meeting in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Rev Mitchell, pastor of the First English Lutheran church, in a talk entitled "Liars," asserted that lying had become so popular that there were now national "liar's clubs" and that "we have invented the lie detector to tell when we do lie."

"Our international relations today are built on lies, and the roots of international hatred lie in the lies of the diplomats," Mitchell continued.

Lies should be avoided, Rev. Mitchell concluded because they are harmful to society, to the victim of the lie, and to the liar himself and, Rev. Mitchell asked "What is more hopeless than a man who has lost his self respect."

David E. Droz, air instructor for Harrington Air Service, was inducted into the club.

Appeals Court Backs Denial

The Fifth District court of appeals today upheld a Richland county common pleas court decision denying a claim of Fred Myers against the Trustees of the Akron, Canton and Youngstown railway.

Myers, who claimed to have received leg and hip injuries on the railroad right-of-way while performing his duties as a brakeman, had sued the company for $50,000.

The common pleas court had ruled in favor of the railway and assessed cost of the proceedings against the plaintiff on Nov. 24, 1945.

Why Should There Be 'Another War'?

NO NEARER approach to an invitation to friendliness on the part of Russia's war allies has come from Premier Generalissimo Josef Stalin than is found in his replies to questions put to him by Alexander Werth, Moscow correspondent of the London Times.

It may be doubted if the American or British positions could be more clearly stated than was that of Russia by the man who is assumed to be in position to speak for that little understood big country.

It would be natural, under any circumstances, for Stalin to disclaim belief that there is any danger of a new war, although there is an ominous note in his statement: "One should strictly differentiate between the hue and cry about a new war that is taking place now, and the real danger of a new war, which does not exist at present."

As he stated it briefly: "The policy of the Soviet Union with respect to the German problem reduces itself to the demilitarization and democratization of Germany," which he believes to be "one of the most important guarantees for the establishment of a stable and lasting peace."

There we have varying definitions of "democratization" as a quibbling point, with an idea that Russian and American views of "democracy" are quite different.

Here is a question and answer that need pondering: "Do you believe in the possibility of a friendly, lasting co-operation between the Soviet Union and the Western democracies, despite the existence of ideological differences, and in friendly competition between the two systems, which Wallace mentioned in his speech?"

To which Stalin's answer was: "I absolutely believe so."

On the subject of whether Communism in one country is possible, Stalin's answer was: "I don't doubt that the possibilities of peaceful co-operation, far from decreasing, may even grow. Communism in one country is perfectly possible, especially in a country like the Soviet Union."

While the post-war attitude of Russia, as expressed at various conferences of United Nations representatives, has not encouraged confidence in Soviet willingness to abide by majority decisions, it must be recognized that Russian background is so historically different from that of present associates that misunderstandings and suspicions are unavoidable, but if there is sincerity in the statements of Stalin—and if these really represent the attitude of the Soviet Union toward reaching a peaceful solution of present world problems—there had better be a let-down on war talk and a determined effort made to find common ground on which to prevent such a catastrophe as an atomic war would necessarily be.

Enormous War Profits Being Probed

LOUDEST CRY, after the first World war, was "take the profits out of war!" This was an admirable aspiration, but recent revelations, coupled with previously disclosed enormous profits on war contracts, demonstrate the futility of any such noble aim.

The house merchant marine committee investigating profits of wartime shipbuilders, is told that an investment of $600 by one shipbuilding firm returned more than two million dollars in profits, and that the Henry J. Kaiser group "earned" fees and profits totaling $192,237,284 from operation of government built yards.

Mr. Kaiser contends that these figures err, and promises information in support of his contention, but it cannot be doubted that enormous profits were returned to some wartime industrialists—and not all of these can be condoned on the plea that great speed was required in meeting war needs.

However isolated the cases may be in which there was profiteering on war contracts, the reflection is on what is called the "free enterprise" system, and suspicion rests on others as well as on those who are actually guilty of acquiring wealth at the expense of those who patriotically bore the high cost of war, and of those who underwent hardships of military service, many of whom gave their lives while many others are doomed to lifelong suffering.

The whole sordid story of war profiteering should be courageously disclosed, so that people may know upon whom guilt rests, and so that the innocent may not be unjustly suspected. If the "free enterprise" system is to deserve the commendation it has been accorded, it must be based on dependable integrity of those who claim its benefits.

Mansfield Needs Recreation Program

MANSFIELD'S need for a year-round supervised recreation program is given emphasis by revelation that a surprisingly small percentage of the many cases in juvenile court involve children who are interested participants in some organization such as the Boy Scouts, the Girl Scouts, and the like.

This information was given in a brief talk at yesterday's Rotary club meeting by Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer, much of whose time is given to handling cases having to do with juvenile misbehavior.

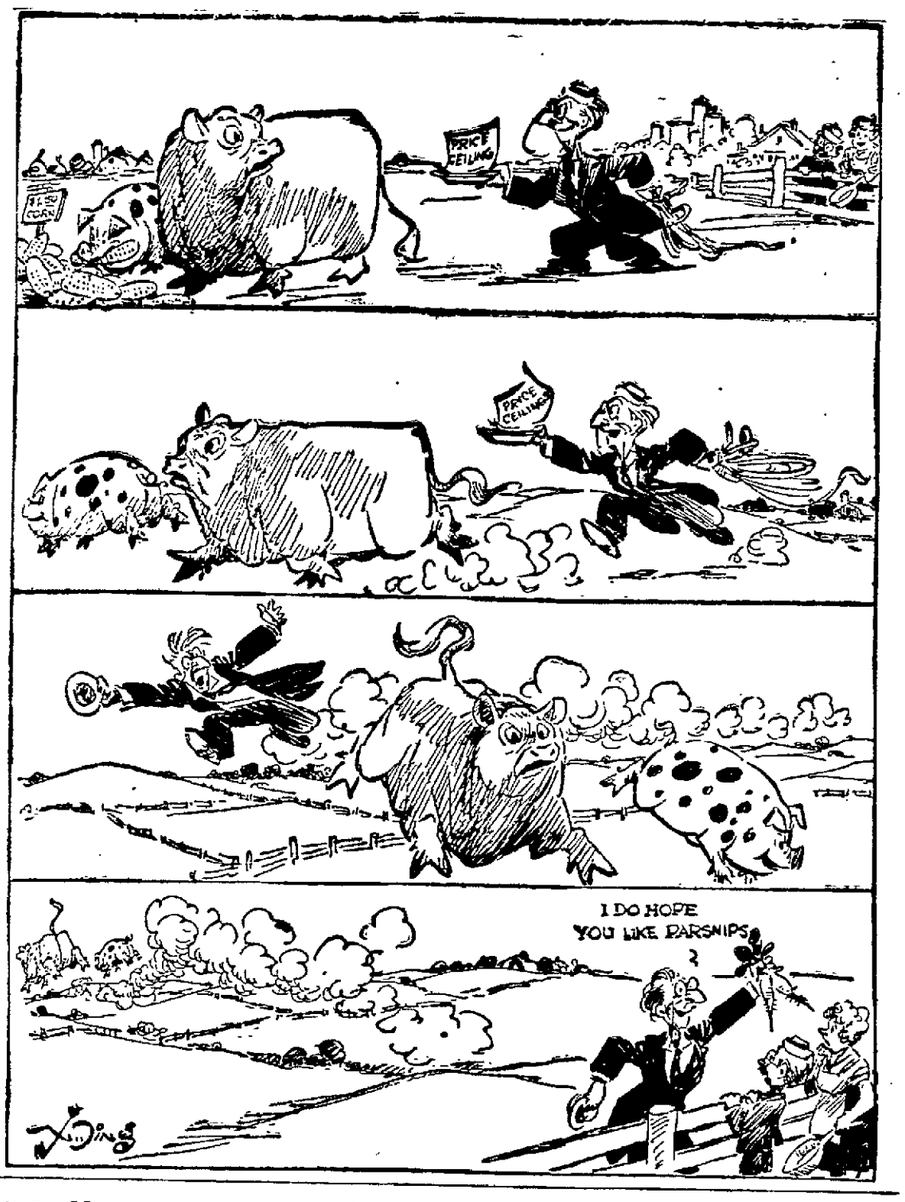
A tax levy proposal to be voted on at the November election contemplates financing the resumption of a recreation program designed to meet what has become a growing need in this community, and which has been missing in recent years because of lack of funds.

The cost is small in comparison with the benefits that would derive from such a program, and it may be hoped that work in behalf of the proposal will be effective in assuring its passage.

The army's chemical corps claims to have produced a poison so potent that one ounce would kill 150,000,000 people—so less than a pint of it would serve to depopulate the earth . . . if that's the idea.

Attention has been called to the shortage of pepper—black, red and Old Oscar—but there is still a surplus of Claude.

GOVERNMENT ECONOMISTS AND THE LIVESTOCK



Wallace Was Rebuked Year Ago After Criticism of Secty. Byrnes

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Though it never flared openly, there was a near brush between Secretary of Commerce Wallace and Secretary of State Byrnes last year.

Wallace was speaking at a small dinner given by the National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax.

He has always felt vigorously about the poll tax and believed the United States should do a better job of spreading democracy at home before it preaches too much about democracy abroad.

At the time of the poll-tax dinner, Publisher Mark Ethridge of the Louisville Courier-Journal was in the Balkans investigating the extent to which Russia permitted democracy there. Prompted by this and by the discussion over the poll tax, Wallace spoke out bitterly.

"Jimmie Byrnes," he said, "would do a whole lot better, if he wants to make a report on democracy, if he called Mark Ethridge back from the Balkans and sent him to South Carolina."

The remark never got into the newspapers, but it did spread subrosa around Washington until finally reached the president's ears. Truman was so worried that he called Wallace and asked him to make every effort to keep his remark from being circulated.

Acting Secretary.

Lighter side of the Wallace-Truman-Byrnes feud was a special Texas conference called by Solicitor Harold Young, who became acting secretary of commerce the minute Wallace resigned.

A cigar-smoking, easy-going Texan, Young immediately summoned Texas newspapermen for an exclusive, highly nationalistic Texas press conference. He wanted advice from Texans, he said, on how to run the department of commerce.

"Do you think I should call a rump cabinet meeting?" he asked with a large wink.

It was suggested that Young also resign, thus becoming the second cabinet member to resign in one day. But Young replied that he was much more concerned about trying to pass a law which would make him secretary of commerce permanently, without the consent of either the president or the congress.

"I'm just an entrenched bureaucrat at heart," opined the acting secretary of commerce.

When one Texan proposed that Young have a picture taken while a member of the cabinet, he replied:

"That's O. K. if you can get a photographer up here right away. But if he stops for a drink, you'll have a picture of an ex-acting-secretary of commerce."

Lichfield Brutality.

It didn't make headlines, but conscientious Secretary of War Patterson and Undersecretary Kenneth Royall have stepped into the Lichfield brutality trials in order to give a fair break to two GI's.

They have suspended the six-month jail sentence given Sgt. James M. Jones and have reduced the three-year term given Sgt. Judson H. Smith to nine months—the time he had already served.

The war department also states that with the rectification of these two harsh sentences, the punishment given to GI's stacks up about even with that given to officers.

Pacific Merry-Go-Round.

Congressmen returned from the Pacific report that an estimated 350 Jap soldiers are still at large on the island of Okinawa, living a Robinson Crusoe existence in the hills. American authorities are not seriously troubled. . . . A lone Jap fugitive was picked up a couple of months ago on Saipan, after having been at large for over a year. When asked where he had been getting water on the very dry portion of the island to which he had been confined, the Nip replied that he had gone at night to a large house in an isolated sector, drinking from the tap and filling his canteen. The home was that of the American commander. . . . Returned congressmen are worried that lower ranking commissioned officers are "taking the Japs to their hearts." The congressmen fear that many occupation officers have forgotten that the Japs were our enemies only a year ago.

The Japs, the congressmen say, have not forgotten their dead, but some of our men have forgotten the Americans who died battling these same Japs.

One of MacArthur's difficulties is the great shortage of Jap-American interpreters. Result: In Japanese towns without any interpreter reports on conditions, written by Jap authorities, are sent to U. S. headquarters as official reports. . . . Plans to recruit 50,000 Filipinos for our army have fallen through because of lack of money. The present goal is 35,000, with the training now under way. . . . Worst areas in the Pacific for troop morale are Korea and the Aleutians. Korea is the center of political intrigue and, because it is at the end of the supply lines, the food served our troops is hardly better than field rations. In the bare, treeless Aleutians, the big wish of U. S. troops is for a 12-month rotation system. They are now sent on a two-year hitch with scant chance to get back to the comparative gayety of Alaska.

Dave Boone Says:

OUR new secretary of commerce, W. Averell Harriman, is one of the best-informed, most internationally experienced and well-balanced men to be named to such office for a long time. In fact, he is such a cosmopolitan as able specialists in foreign affairs so few (publicly) realize that it would be hard to find there's any place at home in modern government anywhere.

The headlines, the newsreel cameramen and his own personal political future come last with this American who, despite great riches, seldom takes it easy.

But I'm afraid he will get plenty of blasting. He's a believer in the American system, he is no politician and he thinks twice before throwing monkey wrenches. That's against him these days.

Timely Editorial

Mind Your Doctor.

The public cannot be warned too often against using any drug in any amount without a doctor's prescription.

On Sept. 19 a news item stated that consignments of useless trash, valued at $15,000 for treating cancer, tuberculosis, syphilis and other diseases, and scheduled for shipment by two Manhattan drug concerns to Europe, Mexico, Central and South America and various French colonies has been seized by the New York City health department.

Ailing people, or those who are afraid they will "get something," are prone to look for miracles of healing and prevention of ailments in these days of rapid strides in the discovery of new drugs.

Phone Call Discloses Bundles of Redtape.

WASHINGTON—It takes a little time and patience, after you've been away, to get accustomed once again to the strange and wonderful (?) ways of Washington.

"Why certainly," this correspondent blithely told an editor of a certain midwestern paper, "I'll be glad to go see administrator Hank Blank of the Better Buttons Bureau for you. Sure I'll ask him if he'll come out here and make a speech for you in December. . . . No, of course not—no trouble at all!"

Naturally, the name isn't Hank Blank and he isn't administrator of any such bureau as the aforementioned. But he has recently become a very well-known, extremely important Washington appointive official.

Nevertheless, when this correspondent was a young and struggling newspaperman (I'm only struggling now) in a distant state, Hank used to come and pester him for publicity, plus a little ghost-writing help on about half of his campaign speeches. It seemed a simple matter to phone him up and ask about making the speech.

"Better Buttons Bureau," intoned the switchboard gal. "What extension, please?"

"Gimme the administrator's office, please."

"I'll connect you with one of his assistants," corrected the switchboard gal chidingly. She said.

"Mr. Whoosit's office," burbled another cheerful female in a moment.

"Lemme speak to Hank, will ya?" I asked briskly.

"Speak to whom?" she snapped, shocked but still grammatical.

"Hank," I said. "Hank Blank. Isn't this his office?"

"You mean Administrator Henry Blank?" She inquired frostily.

"Yes," I bumbled, chastened.

"This is the office of his assistant's first secretary, Mr. Whoosit," she then informed me. "Who shall I tell Mr. Woosit is calling?"

Swallowing, I admitted my identity. She made me spell it. Then—

"And what is the nature of your business?" she asked.

"Me? I'm a newspaperman."

"No, I mean what is the nature of your business with Mr. Whoosit?"

"Look, lady," I said patiently, "I don't have any business with Mr. Woosit. All I want is to talk to Hank—ulp, to talk to Administrator Henry Blank."

"But you must talk to Mr. Whoosit first," she insisted.

"Well then, I guess that's the nature of my business," I said

Obviously unconvinced, but apparently not knowing what to say in such a case, she put Brother Whoosit on the phone. Then we went through the name, location and identification business again.

"And what did you want to talk to the administrator about?" asked Whoosit crisply.

Chocking back an impulse to say I wanted to get the name of the blond I saw the administrator running around with the other night, I explained it was in regard speaking engagement.

"Where, when and to whom?" Whoosit wanted to know.

Swallowing another fiendish impulse involving an insane asylum and New Year's eve, I gave with the information. He probably said he was quite sure it was impossible—that he thought the administrator was going to be busy on the date I mentioned.

"However, I'll switch you to his first assistant in charge of press relations," he said. He did, but I had to go through the whole rigamarole with two more cheerful young secretaries before that guy even got on the phone.

"Oh, I'm quite sure it's impossible," the first assistant in charge of press relations said. "He's going to be in Chicago on that date. But you might write him a letter of invitation, and if anything happens to cancel the Chicago engagement, we'll let you know."

Wearily, I said okay, and then asked if now I might please have a word with the adminstrator.

"What about," snapped the first assistant testily.

"Look, chum," I said carefully, "I'm an old friend of Hank's. I used to ghost-write half of his speeches when he was just a penny-ante politician. I merely wish to say hello."

"Oh," said the first assistant. "Well, I'm sorry, but the administrator is out of town and won't be back for two weeks."

Democrats Lack Progressive Leadership.

WASHINGTON — The yipping chorus of glee from southern Democrats and Republicans that greeted the ouster of Henry Wallace from the Truman cabinet tells accurately what has happened to the once dynamic party of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

For a long time, even before Mr. Roosevelt passed on, the conservatives had the whip hand in congress through the coalition of southern Democrats and Republicans that blocked his domestic program in his later years. The coalition continued to operate even more effectively when Harry Truman espoused the Roosevelt program.

Now circumstances have eliminated all vestiges of effective New Deal influence in the top bowers of power around the president.

The purging process has been going on a long time. Henry Wallace's departure puts a period to the shaking-out, and, also, to an era.

The party is sliding back to the state of courteous and comfortable conservatism, so far as its ruling elements go, to which it has returned so often after making itself for a brief time the vehicle of revolt among the plain people. Back to the state where it can still make noises, but not win elections. Back to the state where it plays its tweedledee to the Republican tweedledum as Mr. Roosevelt once put it so aptly.

As any student of politics knows, the Democratic party does not win elections as the party of conservatism. If the country wants conservatism it goes Republican to be certain about it.

It is possible to suggest an analysis of what is going on in the country without a first-hand inquiry which this writer is planning to make soon on a tour of the country.

The public mind is confused, and naturally after a great war, the problems of peace are many. People are tired of government restrictions. They can't buy what they want, and the price of what they can get is often beyond all reason.

They look to Washington for solutions only to find a floundering administration, unable to give positive answers. All this disturbs them and leads them to look elsewhere for leadership.

This is a natural and primary advantage to the Republicans. For campaign purposes Republicans have dug up an old bogey that always seems to terrify, that is, except in depression years. That is "communism." It's a good whipping boy, particularly now when many people have more than they ever had before. Republicans tie it up with the administration, helped along by the presence of Communists in liberal organizations, in a few labor unions, and by Russia's tactics in Europe.

The liberal wing of the Democratic party is in a state of shellshock over all this, and seems to lack either courage or positive program.

It sits and stews. It lost its leader and now it has lost its last direct contact with the administration.

There is talk of a third party, but the liberal groups seem too disorganized for any such effort.

This is an opportunity for solid, continuing progressivism. Some Republican leaders sense that. There is a historical precedent for such leadership in Teddy Roosevelt. It will be too bad if Republicans don't recognize their responsibility along with their opportunity. They have a splendid chance—if they will take it.

Marquis Childs

"Miracles" Become Commonplace In Air-Age.

(Editor's Note: Mr. Childs has flown to Scandinavia to study at first hand how the small countries of northern Europe are reacting to current international trends and problems—with particular reference to the conflict between Russia and the west. Following is the first of a series of columns from Europe.)

STOCKHOLM — Ships in New York harbor may or may not be strike bound, but each day half a dozen airplanes take off for European ports from LaGuardia field. This wave of advancing technology is rapidly becoming an important factor in the travel field, with an estimated half million passengers leaving United States airports for foreign countries in the first six months of this year.

We left LaGuardia on the inaugural transatlantic flight of the Scandinavian airlines system. A little less than 24 hours later, we came down in Copenhagen in the midst of rain and fog. An hour and a half later we were in Oslo. Then the final stop was Stockholm.

A short time ago this would have been accounted a miracle. It is less than two decades since Lindberg thrilled the world with his flight across the Atlantic. Yet today it is routine.

Three American airlines and five foreign airlines operate to European ports out of LaGuardia field. The pioneer Pan American operates ten flights, American Overseas twelve, TWA nine. The foreign lines are Air France, British Overseas Airways, KLM, the Dutch line, Savena, a Belgian line, and now the Scandinavian system.

In addition to the flights to Europe, flights are daily scheduled to Latin America and the Pacific. There are 240 weekly flights to all points in Latin America, exclusive of Mexico. Pan American flies seven times weekly to Honolulu and three times to New Zealand.

Not only are these figures impressive in the first year after the war, but it is perfectly clear that they will increase rapidly. As of August 1st, there were 142 planes in foreign service. Certificates have been granted to six other companies not yet operating to foreign ports.

The growth has been so rapid that the system of ports is hardly geared to care for it, with incoming and outgoing passengers milling about and customs inspection requiring far longer than it should.

It is a strange commentary on the age we live in that once the powerful plane is in the air, all confusions and uncertainties seem left behind. Our Douglas four-motored plane seems to fly effortlessly at about 7000 feet. The earth below is a curious pattern of water and land that, from our altitude, gives no sign of human life.

Out on the bleak brown wastes of Newfoundland is the Gander airbase. Here, too, overcrowding is painful and the limitations on present facilities apparent.

Great planes from Europe and the U. S. are lined up along the airport as passengers get a hurried rest and a snack in what was the barracks for army air forces crews flying the North Atlantic. New and adequate quarters for passengers in transit are said to be in preparation.

We in the plane, with its throbbing motors, have the sense of being a tiny speck in the vast universe. It is again a curious commentary on our complex civilization to be served an excellent three-course dinner by pretty stewardesses as the plane courses through the infinity of the northern night.

With the end of the flight, there is a curious distortion of the sense of time. It hardly seems possible that we left New York in the midst of a belated heat wave little more than 24 hours before.

As we constantly assure ourselves, we are in the midst of the air age.

Yet, having been earthbound creatures for so long, we cannot bring ourselves to believe it.

Farmer's Diary: "Here's How It Happened."

IT WAS an accident! Unfortunately it happened when I was at home all alone. Something drastic happened to the largest melon of them all . . . it was just one of those things that defy explanation.

To begin with, that melon patch was thrust upon me. We argued at dinner one evening about the right time for planting watermelons, and I declared in rather positive terms that our soil was not well adapted to such truck, anyhow not yet. My wife looked at her plate . . . in a day or two she remarked in an offhand manner. "Oh yes, I stuck some melon seeds into the strawberry rows. They won't hurt the berries, will they?"

"How did you do it?"

"Three steps, a hole with my toe, a few seeds, and dragged my feet," was the answer.

"How many rows of my strawberries did you doctor up?"

"Those four where you put the compost. It won't hurt anything, will it?"

"No—not even if some of them grow."

"And you'll hoe them and cultivate them along with the berries?"

"Sure" . . . I am naturally magnanimous.

Well, they grew! Not all, but some. Enough. They spraddled out into the space between the rows of strawberries and not a bug bothered them. Even in the dry weather, they have yielded a few ripe juicy fruits . . . Hearts of Gold, and small round green water melons, with red meat.

One specially large watermelon lay at the far end of the patch. "It will be, for something special—anyway it's not ripe yet," she would say, and steer me past it.

But the other day I was home all alone, and in my usual fashion went scouting around to look at the state of the crops. That melon seemed bigger than ever, and I saw by thumping it once that it was ripe. So I plucked it off the vine and started up to the spring to put it where it would chill . . . and somehow it slipped!

It was round and heavy. It hit the ground and burst. The shell broke into a hundred pieces, leaving the red solid heart, with its dim juicy sheen, all exposed . . . I forget what I said.

There was just one thing to do, and I did it. Not a soul was there or I would have been generous. Food must not be wasted. It could not be moved. I took it up in my hands, and the juice dripped off my chin.

"This farm will grow splendid melons, if we plant them early enough," I remarked at supper, and related the accident. "What say, we plant more next year?"

The boys winked and nudged each other.

My better half just smiled into her plate.

Post-War Crime Reflected In Court

JUDGE BLAMES OLD OFFENDERS FOR INCREASE

Habitual Troublemakers, Not War Vets, Keep Police Busy, Schettler Says.

By JOHN MINE

Nearly 1,000 more criminal cases have been heard in Mansfield's municipal court so far this year than were heard through September of last year, Judge H. H. Schettler said today.

He said part of the increase can be traced to returning veterans, but added that "it is not simply because a man is a veteran that he winds up in court."

The judge said he sees the increase more as a natural result of the return to the community of a large segment of its population which "gets into trouble even in normal times."

"Take them away and the number of criminal cases drops, bring them back and the cases increase," the judge said.

"But just because a man was in the service doesn't mean that he returns a criminal. Just because a man spends two years in a jungle doesn't mean he's coming back maladjusted.

"It's my considered opinion that most of these same men we see in our courts today would be there, war or no war," the judge declared.

* * *

Hears 2,146 Cases.

The judge cited three other reasons for the increase from 1,200 through September of last year to 2,146 cases through today:

1. Increased law enforcement. More men have been added to both the Mansfield police force and the local state highway patrol substation.

2. More new cars on the road (inviting to speeders) plus the old ones in poor mechanical shape, which lead to other traffic violations.

3. More young marriages which lead to "differences of opinion"—and sometimes to court action.

Judge Schettler said that while many veterans have appeared in his court in the last year, none has been involved in major crimes.

"Only a very small percentage of the total, I believe, were affected by their military service to the point that it caused them to break a law," he said

"Because veterans come from an age group which comprises the majority of our criminals, it's only logical that many men who find themselves in court have seen service," he continued.

"It's highly unfair, however, to say that a veteran becomes a criminal purely because he is a veteran. In some cases military service helped to make a man a better citizen; in other cases it made him a worse one. It all depended upon the man's emotional make-up before he entered service."

CPA Aims to Keep Hemlines Short

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Civilian Production Administration has started a new drive to keep women's hemlines short and straight, a CPA official revealed today.

Letters are being sent out to some 300 clothing manufacturers and retailers, warning them not to make or sell fashions which violate the CPA style restriction order.

Morris S. Vernor, jr., director of the CPA compliance division, said CPA also is investigating reports from New York of widespread withholding of towels and linens from the market in anticipation of a price increase.

"If we find such hoarding we will move immediately to break it up," Verner stated.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress It works this way: Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles, else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Bromfield To Present Amima Service Award

Mansfield's Amima club will celebrate its 20th anniversary Oct. 4 at 7:30 p. m. with a dinner at the Sky Club, Mansfield municipal airport, it was announced today.

Louis Bromfield, noted Mansfield author, will be guest speaker. He will present the first of a series of trophies to be awarded by Amima club to the outstanding personality of Mansfield for each year Recipient of the first award will be C. R. Harrington, manager of the municipal airport.

Amima was founded in 1926 by a group of salesmen who met Saturday afternoons to talk over weekly events. Gradually the club grew to 60 members and, in 1929, membership was opened to business and professional people.

The club has sponosered many civic projects. Among them are the replacement of the mayor's court with a municipal court, the elimination of grade crossings, the reopening of the museum in the Memorial building, sponsorship of the airport terminal, and the Mansfield Tyger club.

The club's program for the anniversary year calls for a study of ways to relieve downtown parking congestion.

Charter members were :Henry G Brunner, O. P. Anderson, Wayne E Kamp, Jack Kennedy, J. C Hartline, O. R Anthony, E. E. Hudson, C. D. Huff, C. H. Stander, William Wolf, W. H Magers, D. D Palmer, Vaughn P. Poling, and J. P. Snap. Hartline, the club's first president, Anderson and Hudson still are active members.

The committee for the dinner meeting is composed of J. M. Buchanan, Edward Channell, Clifford Heaton and Ward Ingraham.

MARKET SLUMP UNDER INQUIRY

SEC Orders Firm to Supply Data on Sept. 3 Sales.

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)— The Securities and Exchange commission has launched an investigation into the Sept. 3 stock market slump.

All member firms of the New York Stock Exchange were asked to supply the commission with information on sales that day. The firms were requested to send their returns to the New York office of the SEC by October 7.

James A. Treanor, jr., director of the commission's trading and exchange division, said the agency will reconstruct all sales for that day by setting the market up in quarter-hour periods.

A study will then be made to learn which stocks were liveliest during each period. A complete inquiry will be made of any stock that shows irregularities Treanor added that present SEC regulations will be made more strict if the study reveals the operation of illegal pools.

PILES ARE NEVER "MILD"

DANGER IN NEGLECT

No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids) as a "mild" disorder.

Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.

Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its run-down tired feeling, and general nervous irritability.

Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

A SMALL DARK-EYED GIRL borrowed Mother's scissors to cut out the dolls in the Sunday paper. With an equally small chum, she dressed them in the paper dresses, also from the newspaper. Then one day the dolls were discontinued, but the dark-eyed girl found she retained a liking for such dress-making. So she designed her own, with the aid of crayons, pencils and the scissors

Miss Rinehart at her drawing board with two of her illustrations.

Miss Marjorie Rinehart, 368 Mc-Pherson street, has not outgrown the liking for designing and dressing. Her sketches of women showing fashions popular garments are exceptionally well-proportioned and clear.

Her liking for design and drawing was started by a course in art and designing at Mansfield high schools and was given impetus when she took it from Mansfield shops home to her aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Rinehart died recently and now her daughter is free to follow her hobby to a fuller extent if she chooses. But picking up the threads of ambition after one has worked for four years and taken several clients into the background is not easy. Dorothy Kilgallen—

Life in Hollywood: For many years hopeful Hollywood executives with highbrow (or possibly "long hair") tendencies have been striving to interest Arthur Rubenstein in the motion picture industry as a medium through which he could bring his artistry to the largest possible number of human beings.

It was with considerable trepidation and not much expectation of success, that Frank Borzage, the producer-director, approached Rubinstein with the suggestion that he do the music for the $2,000,000 Technicolor film, "I've Always Loved You."

"At last," Borzage said, "here is a great opportunity for you to bring your music to masses of people who have never heard you. All we want is your music. We will make any concessions you want. We will pay you anything you ask, give you any type of billing you desire and put the entire resources of the studio at your disposal."

"Give me the script," said Rubenstein. "If I like it—if I can believe it—I will do the music for your picture.

The next day Rubinstein phoned Borzage and told him that although the script was fascinating, aund he was tempted to accept the offer, there was one point that he could not bring himself to overlook, and for that reason he was forced to say no. Borzage wanted to know why.

"Because there is one thing in the script that I just cannot believe," said Rubinstein. "In the story, Goronoff, the maestro, has taught Myra the piano for eight years. She is his star pupil. At last he feels that she is ready, and he arranges for her to make her debut in Carnegie Hall.

"Goronoff is to conduct the orchestra with his protege at the piano. The concert starts and Myra is magnificent. Goronoff sees that his pupil has become truly great. He sethes with jealousy. He realizes that the pupil has become greater than the maestro. He drowns her out with his music. He ruined her performance."

Rubinstein paused. Then he went on. "That Mr. Borzage, I cannot believe, Goronoff is a great artist. He is a lover of music. Music is his life. No matter how jealous he was, he would never, never ruin Myra's concert."

Borzage was stumped. He had no notion of what to do. The scene that Rubinstein had described was the key scene of "I've Always Loved You." The entire story was wrapped around this scene. "Mr. Rubenstein," he said. "We want you for this picture. I don't know how we are going to do it, but we will change the story. Say you will do the music and we will change the script to suit your wishes."

Rubinstein agreed, and the contract was signed. The pianist was paid $85,000 to record Rachmaninoff's Second Concerto and a number of other compositions. Meanwhile Borzage paced and pondered and sweated it out. "I've Always Loved You" was in production. He and his writer had found no way to change the story. They worked every night after shooting was finished and still there was no way to beat the problem.

One day in the midst of this unhappy turmoil Rubinstein walked on the set. There was a twinkle in his eye as he sought out Borzage.

"Mr. Borzage," he said, "I have changed my mind. I now see no reason for you to altar your script. The sequence I objected to is entirely believable. Please forgive me."

Borzage was flabbergasted. "What happened?" he asked. "What made you change your mind? Why have you now decided that Goronoff would ruin Myra's concert?"

"I'll tell you," the pianist said. "Last night I made a recording of Rachmaninoff's Second Concerto. "Leopold Stokowski was conducting the orchestra. "Last night I changed my mind about Goronoff's attitude. "It was entirely believable. "I know—it happened to me!"

Attempting retaliation against an inveterate psychic bidder, by using his own tactics against him, is a highly dangerous procedure. It is like fondling a buzz saw when you don't understand the consarn thing. Ordinarily your safest protection is to be extra reliable in your own bids unless you, too, are experienced in monkeying with psychics.

The spade 8 was led and the Q played. Expecting another spade, South played low. The defense then switched and ran all the rest of the tricks, for a score of 2,500 points.

South's venturesome 2 - No Trumps was based on doubt about the two-bid by East, who had been preventing a lot of good scores for his opponents by fooling them with psychic bids. But this one time East really had "the goods."

West was doubtful about his partner's call at first, so passed the 2-No Trumps to see what East would do next. After the double he got confidence, so passed in order to punish South. Maybe the latter would have had a better chance to get out of his trouble if he had now bid 3-Clubs, but he felt that his partner would read the situation and rescue him. North could have saved a lot of points by bidding 3-Diamonds. His pass, he explained, was because he was befuddled and had no idea who was psyching.

MEAT ON HOOF NEAR RECORD

Cattle Plentiful on Ranges, Government Reports.

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON -- (AP) -- This meat-hungry nation is witnessing the paradox of near-record numbers of cattle roaming the ranges while dinner table platters are empty of beef.

Agriculture department officials said today the number of cattle on the nation's farms is not far below the 1944 peak and that the number on western ranges may be the largest on record.

But grass-fed cattle are not moving off ranges to slaughter pens in numbers the government had expected. Department experts said uncertainty over future prices tends to delay marketings.

This is the season when cattle normally start moving off ranges in large numbers. But the movement has been slow since livestock price controls were re-established Sept. 1.

Officials cited several reasons, among them:

1. Some western cattlemen are holding back in the hope of higher prices.

2. Corn-belt feeders have been bidding heavily against slaughterers for cattle which might go either to the slaughter pens or to feed lots. With a record corn crop in prospect and with feed prices expected to decline, feeders see a chance of making money by producing heavier weight cattle.

3. Some cattlemen are waiting until after January 1 for income-tax purposes. Cattle sold after that date would be charged against income in 1947, which farmers expect to be smaller than this year.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

Phil Silvers, bespectacled Hollywood comic, once had a crush on Olivia de Haviland, for which no reader, I'm sure, can blame him.

She went out with him several times, but when he asked her to the Academy Award dinner, social highwater mark of the season, she said, "I'll go with you - but you must promise to leave off those glasses. They make you look so silly."

Silvers promised--and kept his word. He arrived at her door that evening in white tie and tails, with a corsage of orchids --and a seeing-eye dog.

Higginbottom's divorce case established a fact pretty clearly that he had frequently mistaken his bride for a punching bag. Judge Wallace listened to the growing evidence and then said sternly:

"Higginbottom, you're a disgrace to your sex. I've decided to give your wife sixty dollars a week."

"That's mighty white of you, Judge," allowed Higginbottom. "I'll try to slip her a buck or two once in a while myself."

HOROSCOPE

For Thursday, September 26

A DAY of dramatic and swift-moving events is presaged from the dominant astral influences. There may be a sudden and quite unforseen turn of events in which ingenuity, innovation and keen grasp of underlying conditions should lead to thrilling heights. Be alert for probably astonishing crises involving the creative talents, with original ideas and clever manipulation.

Romantic adventure is likewise in the offing, but use a degree of finesse.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves projected into a sudden and thrilling place, both in private and public popularity, where in some original skill, unique proposition, or inventive genius will be of conspicuous force. Romance and adventure are in the air, with swift moves.

How To Handle A Silly Streak

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph. D.

"Dear Dr. Myers: I would appreciate your suggestions in the handling of practically the only puzzling problem I have with my little girl two years old. I enjoy her company very much, and we have wonderful experiences together, and I consider her a happy, well behaved, co-operative, understanding child.

"She has never refused to do what is necessary in line of getting dressed, eating, going to the bathroom, nor makes any comment when not allowed to touch things, nor when I leave her for short periods alone, or for longer periods with others. I try to make things pleasant and quick, but at the same time having her assume almost full responsibility for these things. She does extremely well.

A Silly Streak.

"However, it seems that she has acquired a very silly streak, during which everything should be a huge game. She experiments at mixing small portions of her food together, and holding her spoon in either hand, in different positions, even attempting to eat from the handle. When she is dressing, she buttons the buttons purposely in the wrong holes, and laces her shoes wrong. In bed she likes to giggle and talk and sing, although she is very tired, and does not stand up or move about.

"She has until now done those things very well, with plenty of conversation and praise and encouragement, and no urging or rushing. In fact, she has done so well that it has been very pleasant. I have seldom spanked her for anything, and never threaten her in any way. She still co-operates, but in this 'silly' manner.

Psychologist Replies.

In answering this mother I urged her to make clear to that youngster the silly types of behavior she won't tolerate in her. I hope you don't class of the same seriousness those types of behavior you have named together. Only one that you have named would seem to warrant your grave concern, her mixing of foods. Since so great a nuisance may grow out of it, you don't wish to let it go on..

Either serve her only one food at a time or remove her food and end her meal when she begins the mixing. If she responds well to the word "No," just tell her once not to do it. But, as a rule, either spanking or chair-sitting should be avoided in connection with her eating, lest it be associated in her experience with certain foods or with eating in general, reducing her appetite.

Anything you can do by day to provide her with a calm and quiet atmosphere should help — low voice, silent radio, to name two instances. You seem to have won so great success with that child that you should be happy over all your achievements. Do continue with your gentleness, love and patience.

ROTARY HEARS TALKS ON LEVY, JOB TRAINING

Judge Cramer Urges Support of Recreation Program to Curb Delinquency.

Mansfield Rotary club members and their guests were treated to a "double feature" at the club's luncheon meeting yesterday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer headed a discussion of the proposed two-tenths mill recreation levy which will be voted on in November, and Sam Vining, Mansfield sales expert, talked on problems of vocational guidance.

"I've never had a boy before me on a juvenile charge who was active in any organization in which he was really interested," Judge Cramer said. "The youngsters who come into court are the ones whose recreation hasn't been directed. It seems to me it would be impossible to argue against a program as constructive as this levy proposal."

Vining criticized business colleges for "unwittingly giving students the view that they are not getting an education but the means to finding a job," and colleges in general for "teaching men that opportunity lies in the narrow channels of some 30 large business institutions, and not at home."

Findings, based on the study made by Vining, seemed to indicate that the first job was important only as leading to something better, that schooling in most cases does not determine what one's work will be, that the spread of time from the first to a permanent job is usually about 10 years, and that 10 jobs are usually held during that period," he told the club.

Two new members were introduced to the club during the meeting. They were William Mabee, of the Tappan Stove company, and Dr. Karl Langacher. The club expressed its regrets at the departure of Al Peabody who is leaving for Texas where he will go into business with his two sons.

COLLABORATORS

450,000 Belgian Pro-Nazi Suspects Investigated.

BRUSSELS — (AP) — Since Belgium's liberation more than 450,000 investigations into the activity of citizens suspected of collaboration with the Nazis have been conducted by the Belgian military authorities.

This is one sixteenth of Belgium's total population, and it would be rash to jump to the conclusion that such a big fraction of the country's inhabitants gave active support to the Germans.

In fact, up to June 1 only 392 Belgians had been condemned to death and of these 102 had been executed by the firing squad.

The latest available statistics issued by the Ministry of Justice show that 133,693 Belgians joined the German army or military formations. Although this figure is also comparatively high, it must be kept in mind that the majority of these men had been sent to Germany as slave laborers and that most of them were employed in labor formations such as the Todt organization and the transport corps.

Eighteen thousand Flemings fought in the ranks of the S.S. and the traitor Leon Degrelle's ill-famed Walloon Legion, which fought on the Russian front, amounted to a bare 3,000 men. Another 3,500 were employed by the Gestapo and 2,500 donned the "Feldgendarme's" uniform.

Out of 75,391 cases of "military collaboration" 58,730 have been dropped by the military courts, but more than 16,000 are still to be tried.

There were 16,000 cases of "economic collaboration" examined up to April 15, and out of these only 219 had been brought to court.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when the lower part gets blocked food may fail to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is something to "unblock" your lower intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get Carter's Pills right now. Take them as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits all 5 of Nature's own digestive juices to mix better with your food.

You get genuine relief from indigestion so you can feel really good again.

Get Carter's Pills at any drugstore—25c. "Unblock" your intestinal tract for real relief from indigestion.

HERE'S PROTECTION FOR YOUR LAWN

Your lawn represents a big investment in time, labor, and seed. It is worth every bit of its cost for the enjoyment it brings to the whole family and for the real value it adds to your home. Protect your investment by feeding your lawn a square meal this fall. Give it 4 pounds of Vigoro per 100 square feet of area. A well-fed lawn has greater resistance to damage, through adverse weather, weeds or disease.
